Joan practises charitable yoga

AN 82-year-old yoga teacher from Codsall has helped raise more than £7,000 over five years for a host of different charities.

Joan Niblett, of Brook Grove, has been practising yoga for the past 43 years but since starting the classes back in 2006 she now teaches 50 people every week.

With £7,200 collected so far, causes such as Compton Hospice, Acorns, Midlands Air Ambulance and Bilbrook Church, have all benefited from her generosity.

"I first got into yoga to help relieve the stresses of my job but it quickly started to transform my life and way of thinking, everyone should try it," she said.

"After leaving work I carried on attending classes, it is great to be able to share this with others and I am thankful they have helped me raise so much money over the years."

Classes are held at Bilbrook church hall, every Monday and Friday, from 2pm until 3pm.

Admission is £1 and all proceeds go to charity.

Building ready for conversion

THE Charles Clark showroom in Wolverhampton is finally ready for renovation almost a decade after falling into disrepair and becoming one of the city's worst eyesores.

Workers have now cleared out the rundown building in Chapel Ash ready for it to be turned into apartments.

Internal walls have been knocked down and glass littering the floor has been removed, paving the way for a multi-million pound redevelopment. But the uncertainty looks set to last a little longer amid a planning wrangle between developer Kultar Dale and Wolverhampton City Council.

The property mogul's firm Dale Investments plans to create a total of 42 flats and 5,550 sq ft of retail space on the site by converting the existing block and adding a new building at the rear.

But a stalemate over parking arrangements means the proposals have been shelved for the time being.

Pair jailed for lock-up cars theft operation

TWO men have each been jailed for 30 months for their part in a stolen car racket run from a Wolverhampton industrial estate.

Police found five cars and the parts from 13 others when they swooped on the lock-up, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard on Friday.

All had been stolen over a six-month period in either burglaries or while parked unattended with the ignition keys in the vehicle. Police estimated theywere worth up to £300,000.

Officers were led to the unit on Stow Heath Industrial Estate, Monmore Road, East Park, by the tracker device on a VW Scirocco taken with a VW Golf R32 during a burglary in Chester.

A dog handler arrived at the lock-up as Jordan James,aged 20, of Albion Road, West Bromwich, was pulling down the shutters to cover up the crime.

Substantial

He had the keys to five stolen cars with three more discovered at his home and photos of the Scirocco and Golf R32 stored on his mobile phone.

Mr John Evans, prosecuting, said: "The officer managed to get under the closing shutters in time. Inside were found either complete or parts from 18 stolen cars. The unit had handled a substantial flow of stolen motor vehicles."

The Scirocco was intact and so were four Mercedes taken from addresses in Wolverhampton and Walsall.

There were the engines of six other stolen cars along with the chassis or body parts from the rest of the haul stolen from as far afield as Devon between September 2009 and the following March when police found the unit that was being rented by Yaser Hussain.

He had taken out a 12-month lease the previous July to set up a "business".

Regular

The 27-year-old father of two was tipped off about the raid and fled his home in Essex Street, Walsall, before police could get there with a search warrant. He arrested four months later driving on the M6 near Walsall.

Mobile phone records showed that he had been in regular contact with James.

The Golf R32 taken during the same crime has never been found.

Police did discover a pistol with live ammunition in an office at the industrial unit but were unable to prove to whom it belonged.

Mr Tarlowchan Dubb, defending, said the business had been legitimate when started by Hussain, who employed James. The lawyer said: "He wanted to deal in prestige car parts."

Both defendants admitted conspiracy to receive stolen goods and each was jailed for 30 months.

Speakers for pensioners

PAUL UPPAL MP is among the guest speakers at a meeting of the Wolverhampton Pensioners' Convention tomorrow (Friday 10).

Also due to speak is Wolverhampton City Council leader Roger Lawrence, Dr Peter Fisher, from the NHS Consultation Association and Dot Gibson, general secretary of the National Pensioners' Convention.

Subjects for discussion include the Government's proposed changes to the NHS and the provision of care services to the community.

National Pensioners' Convention president Frank Cooper, will open the meeting which takes place at Wolverhampton Civic Centre from 11am to1.30pm.

An open day at university

PEOPLE interested in studying at the University of Wolverhampton are invited to an Open Day taking place at the Wolverhampton and Walsall campuses on Saturday, from 10am until 3pm.

There will be an opportunity to meet lecturers and students and talk through the courses.

Visitors will be able to tour the facilities and student accommodation, and find out about finances and careers. For further details, contact 0800 953 3222 or email enquiries@wlv.ac.uk

VICTORY IN WALL FIGHT

By Tim Spiers
tim.spiers@expressandstar.co.uk

A BREWERY has agreed to reinstate a dwarf wall after falling foul of a 35-year-old conservation order.

The wall had been situated in front of 70 Wood Road, next to the site of the now demolished Shoulder of Mutton pub in Tettenhall Wood, with both buildings owned by Marston's.

It was removed by tenant Jack Morris, who turned his front garden into a driveway, but after months of negotiations involving him, Marston's and Wolverhampton City Council, the wall will now be restored.

Planning restrictions for buildings within the conservation area are strict, with even the erection of satellite dishes needing to be checked with the council first.

Mr Morris, who it is believed has since left the property, was unavailable for comment but an unnamed neighbour said he was surprised the conservation order had been flouted in the first place.

"I was amazed that this front garden was demolished in flagrant disregard for the Tettenhall Wood Conservation Area," he said. "I don't know if this was done with the knowledge of Marston's but if it was it shows scant respect for the area.

"However, if that was the case it should not surprise me in view of their willingness to allow the Shoulder of Mutton, a pub with great potential, to be demolished.

"I just hope the council will ensure that the frontage of number 70 is restored to its former garden.

Natural

"I am sure residents would also like to know when work will start on the houses on the Shoulder of Mutton site – or is it going to lie there stagnating like the old Quarter House site in Compton Road?"

The Tettenhall Wood Conservation Area was designated by the thenWolverhampton Borough Council in November 1975.

As well as properties on Wood Road, other buildings which fall within the conservation area include Christ Church, Bromley House, the United Reformed Church and many natural stone and brick boundary walls.

Regulations were reviewed in 2007 through a questionnaire and a council report, when no changes were made to the boundary but a number of buildings were added to the authority's Local List.

A spokesman from Marston's said: "The wall falls within Marston's responsibility and we will be rebuilding it as soon as possible."

MP critical of £13.4m blight project

A WOLVERHAMPTON MP has called plans to spend £13.4 million on the area blighted by the collapse of the Summer Row project a "public relations exercise".

Paul Uppal poured cold water on a proposal to lift a major part of the city centre from the economic doldrums.

The Tory MP for Wolverhampton South West put forward his own idea for regeneration.

He said he believed Wolverhampton City Council should instead consider putting the money up as an incentive to investors to come forward and fund a £154 million rebuilding of the city's rail station. He said: "Great towns and cities were built by industrialists who took a risk. The public sector has not brought prosperity to the area.

"People arriving at Wolverhampton rail station need to see it as the gateway to the city. A finished site shows that you're serious.

Invited

"I think it would be wise to make sure there is support for the rail station getting off the ground rather than doing something which could be a bit of a PR exercise."

The council invited 37 developers and agents to a meeting at The Novotel on Friday to discuss ideas for how to regenerate the city.

Phil Bateman, chairman of the council-backed Wolverhampton Business Champions, said: "Wolverhampton is suffering economically at the moment, but there is investment taking place in the city, like the £22 million new bus station and the modest £13.4 million investment scheme which has already been agreed by the city council after the £300m Summer Row development was cancelled .

"This is just the right time to engage with the private sector."

Henry Carver, of the independent Wolverhampton Business Group, said: "There needs to be an increase in parking and a reduction in useless, derelict buildings."

Developers check what city can offer

wolchron@expressandstar.co.uk

THIRTY-SEVEN developers and agents from across the country have descended on Wolverhampton to hear what the city has to offer.

Council bosses had invited 80 potential investors to a breakfast meeting last week to try to kickstart regeneration.

Organisers said they were satisfied with numbers attending an event to help end a decade of dereliction and stalled schemes. The developers' forum, at

The Novotel, was intended to talk up Wolverhampton's potential after the £300 million Summer Row shopping centre plan collapsed.

Developers heard Wolverhampton Council leader Roger Lawrence, chief executive Simon Warren and regeneration officers outline the city's potential and say the council wants to work with the commercial sector.

There was a presentation by Neptune Developments – building the £22.5 million bus station which has a Sainsbury's and WH Smith opening next to it. Delegates then toured the city. Regeneration chief Councillor Peter Bilson said: "The council's main role was to listen.

"We'll be taking on board the insights and perspectives of the commercial sector so, together, we can shape a strategy for the city centre that is both commercially realistic and deliverable.

"We were delighted to welcome nearly 40 developers and agents. Given the tough trading conditions nationally, especially in the retail sector, we're very encouraged by the interest from companies that recognise Wolverhampton's potential.

Growing

"A number of representatives stayed on for one-to-one meetings and tours of the city centre.

"We think developers will recognise what Wolverhampton has to offer. We have strong and growing sectors in aerospace, engineering, construction, finance, food and drink.

"We're an established visitor destination with a strong leisure and sport offer with a Premier League football team and the £45 million redevelopment of Molineux.

"We're investing in our infrastructure through the multi-million Building Schools for the Future programme and the Interchange project."

The Interchange project involves linking and revamping the bus and train stations.

New campus links schools

A NEW campus which brought two Wolverhampton schools together has had its official opening.

The Willows brings Stowlawn Primary School on to the same site as Green Park School which caters for 100 places for pupils with learning difficulties.

Both schools have been using the site in Green Park Avenue for more than a year.

Hope of buyer for the Ramada Hotel

A WOLVERHAMPTON property mogul is interested in buying the city's landmark Ramada Park Hall Hotel and transform it into apartments.

The 75-bedroom hotel in Goldthon Hill, which employs 80 people, has been put up for sale after its owner was placed in administration.

Businessman Kultar Dale said he was going to put a multi-million pound bid in for the building, which has been running as a hotel for three decades.

Mr Dale, who owns the Charles Clark Rover dealership in Chapel Ash and the former Canal Club on the outskirts of the city centre, said: "We will be in the running to make a bid.

"We were interested when it became a Ramada but last time it was a totally different market. We wanted the building for apartments and we would look to do that this time."

The Ramada Park Hall Hotel is being sold as a going concern, along with the Ramada in Oldbury, by administrators Grant Thornton. Bosses blame the slump in the property market for the move. Both venues are continuing to take bookings.

The hotels are run by leisure and property firm Fortmere Group, which is based in Brierley Hill. A third Ramada in Kenilworth is also being sold. The three affected hotels employ 145 people, including 120 in the Black Country.

Masterclass for the gifted

GIFTED and talented pupils will get the chance to take part in a Japanese language masterclass and hands-on martial arts activity at a University of Wolverhampton event.

The University is hosting a Japanese and Martial Arts Day for Year 8 pupils at the Walsall Campus tomorrow (Friday).

The event is one of a range of Olympic-themed functions being held across the UK in June and July in association with the West Midlands Excellence Hub to celebrate National Olympics in Schools day.

Stepping up cash plea

AN ambitious young dance group from Wolverhampton has renewed an appeal for sponsors to help realise a dream of performing in Las Vegas at the world hip-hop dance championships.

WDC Hip-Hop Dance Crew qualified for the U18 division at the Idance world championships, which take place on July 27, by winning the Midlands heats earlier this year.

But the group members are racing against time to raise the £15,000 needed for flights, accommodation and new uniforms for the competition.

They launched a fundraising drive to raise the cash in time last month and have embarked on a big fundraising drive. But group co-founder Natasha Clark who launched WDC Crew in 2002 with fellow freelance dance instructor Naomi Marshall, admits they will probably need a sponsor to reach their target.

For details or to enquire about sponsoring WDC call Natasha Clark on 07971 565285 or email rockwithmetash@hotmail.com. Alternatively visit the team's Facebook page by searching for WDC Crew.

Further 20 council jobs axed to plug grants gap

A FURTHER 20 jobs will have to go at South Staffordshire District Council to help deal with Government cuts.

Sixteen staff have already agreed to voluntary redundancy packages. The council is trying to plug a £2 million grant gap over the next four years and 20 additional posts out of more than 400 will have to go in that period, warned chief executive Steve Winterflood.

He described the cuts as being "beyond our worse-case scenario". The council, which employs 413 people, has formed a four-year plan to help cushion the impact of the budget reduction. Bosses said they had made a commitment to protecting front-line services from cuts.

"The cuts were beyond our worse-case scenario and were worse than we ever could have imagined," Mr Winterflood said. "It is a 35 per cent cut in our budget. The plan is not about cutting front line services. It is about protecting those services and especially those affecting vulnerable residents in our communities."

Leisure

Mr Winterflood said as part of the plan, the council would be looking to be even more "rigorous" when negotiating contracts and that it would also be looking to make better use of its assets, such as buildings and sites it owned.

The authority has already announced that it is outsourcing pest control and putting up fees for non-members at leisure centres in a bid to cut costs.

It is estimated that about £500,000 can be saved as a result of the 16 people agreeing to take voluntary redundancy.

That scheme is now being extended until 2015 in the hope that more staff will come forward but if they do not, compulsory redundancies will be looked at.

"I think there's a recognition that we need to do a whole range of things if we are going to get though this," said Mr Winterflood.

"If we had just gone for cutting the headcount, we could have been talking about losing up to 50 people," he added.

Former mayor's son faces charge

THE son of the former Mayor of Wolverhampton appeared in court last week accused of producing cannabis.

Scott Gwinnett, the 34-year-old son of Councillor Malcolm Gwinnett, was at Cannock Magistrates Court. He is accused of being involved in the production of cannabis but did not enter a plea.

Scott Gwinnett, of Renton Road, Oxley, Wolverhampton, is alleged to have been involved in the production of cannabis in Wombourne on March 12.

Mr John Peel, prosecuting, said police carried out a raid at the former A1 Tyres on Ounsdale Road where a quantity of cannabis plants were found along with a watering system and lighting.

Gwinnett spoke only to confirm his name, address, date of birth and that he understood the charge.

Magistrates adjourned his case until July 13 when another hearing will take place at the same court.

Police grant for group

A WOMEN'S rights group in Wolverhampton has been given a £500 grant from a police fund.

Soroptomist International Bilston and District will use the cash to raise awareness of honour-based violence and forced marriage in Wolverhampton.

The group is hosting a charity evening on June 24 at Coven Memorial Hall in Brewood Road, Coven. Guest speaker is Jasvinder Sanghera, who will talk about forced marriages.

Supporter puts his Wolves number plate up for sale

WOLVES-MAD car owners can get their hands on a new personalised number plate bearing the team's name – providing they have a spare £4,500.

Life-long supporter Paul Tye has put his beloved number plate W101VES up for sale with the Chronicle's sister paper, the Express & Star.

The 60-year old former Halfords service manager displayed the sign with pride for more than eight years.

But he is now planning to replace it with a new number plate bearing his own initials and surname.

Paul, who lives in Salisbury, spent four years working as a steward on matchdays at his beloved Molineux between 1997-2001.

He said he wants to change the plate to something more personal but admits he will be sad to see it go.

"I have always been interested in cars and I had been looking for a Wolves plate for a while," he said.

"I bought it in 2003 from the DVLA because it just happened to be becoming available and paid £3,000.

"Everybody used to comment on it when I used to park near to Molineux on matchdays.

"Some of the club directors also had personalised Wolves plates but I used to think this one outshone them all.

This Wolves number plate is on sale

"The only reason I'm selling it is I have bought another number plate which has my name P5TYE, which is more personal to me."

Mr Tye, who counts Derek Dougan and Kenny Hibbitt among his earliest heroes, began supporting the club in the 1960s despite growing up in North Wales, because of their success and the flair the team played with.

He said he hopes the plate will now bestow a similar sense of pride in another Wolves fan.

But he hopes the process of selling the plate will be easier than watching the team has been this season.

"Talk about heart attack material," he joked of Wolves' last-minute escape from relegation on Survival Sunday.

"What are they doing to us? I was delighted they stayed up but watching it on television, the table changed so many times. With us 3-0 down at half time I thought we were doomed."

Mr Tye said he wanted the plate to go to a fellow Wolves fan ideally but it was also suitable for fans of either the Wolverhampton Wolves speedway team or the Rugby League team Warrington Wolves.

"I would definitely prefer to sell it to another Wolves fan but if a reasonable offer comes in from someone else, the plate is for sale so I would have to consider it," he said.

Mr Tye is inviting bids of £4,500 or the nearest offer. Call him on 07767 802814.

The Orange Order set for city parade

THE Orange Order will parade through the centre of Wolverhampton this weekend, bringing 300 people to the city.

The group, based mainly in Northern Ireland and Scotland, parades in the run up to July 12, the annual protestant celebration of the Battle of the Boyne in 1690.

The parade, with a flute band, starts at 3pm on Saturday from Deanery Place.

It goes down Darlington Street to Salop Street then back up for a short service at St Peter's Square.

Diverse

Police say they had no reason to believe it would be anything but peaceful. No extra officers will be on duty.

City council leader Roger Lawrence said: "While I recognise the parade might offend some sections of the community, Wolverhampton is a diverse, friendly and tolerant city that upholds the democratic values of freedom of speech and expression."

The Orange Order, which stages about 30 parades in England annually, was unavailable to say why it has chosen Wolverhampton this year.

BGT was amazing, says MJ as he returns for friend's birthday

JUST hours earlier he was being watched by millions as he and his bandmates came third in the country's biggest talent show.

But level-headed teenager MJ Mytton-Sanneh still insisted on heading back home to Wolverhampton for his friends' birthday party as soon as the cameras stopped rolling.

The 13-year-old Smestow School pupil was back in the city yesterday to celebrate his pals Lina Hayward and Callum Anderson both turning 13.

But he was heading back to London first thing today, along with South Staffordshire organist Jean Martyn, to begin rehearsals for the ITV show's live tour.

There was disappointment for grandmother-of-two Jean as she trailed in last on Saturday night but MJ and fellow New Bounce band members Mitchell Zhangazha, 16, Kuan Fyre, 14, and James Anderson, 12, were tipped for stardom.

Peaking

Music mogul Simon Cowell told them they would "work in the real world" as he revealed they were his pick to win.

Meanwhile Jean,aged 59, brushed off one of Cowell's famous comments as he dubbed her "like musical fish and chips".

"I've had a ball," she said. "I cannot stop smiling."

An average of 12.3 million viewers tuned in to the Britain's Got Talent finale, peaking at 14.1million, to see the 10 acts fight for a £100,000 cheque and place on the Royal Variety stage.

MJ, from Finchfield, was given plenty of hope that a music career is just around the corner as his band's performance of Ain't No Sunshine received rave reviews from the judges and comparisons with X Factor success story JLS.

His mother Heather says the youngster remains grounded and after Saturday's final his attentions immediately turned to celebrating the birthdays of friends.

MJ travelled back home to Wolverhampton to be with friends

"He insisted on coming back," Heather said.

MJ said he was satisfied with the show's outcome.

"We came third out of 60,000 people who auditioned, so that's pretty decent," said MJ, who has starred in West End musical Thriller Live for the past three years.

"It was amazing to be Simon's pick. The pressure has been hard, but we came through."

Heather added: "I think the boys' future is fairly secure, they will undoubtedly get something.

"Being first would have put an awful lot of pressure on, they are only young."

Meanwhile Jean's "rock", partner and manager Bob Ware, said she had exceeded all expectations by reaching the last 10 although Simon Cowell dubbed her "like musical fish and chips" after the grandmother-of-two stormed through Grease hit You're The One That I Want and Buck Fizz's Making Your Mind Up to finish.

She donned another of her sparkly jackets for her performance, this time sporting a glitzy purple and blue number and matching shoes.

Her arms and legs were a blur as she flashed beaming smiles at the cameras throughout.

Former financier Mr Ware, aged 70, said: "As usual Simon Cowell's comments were uncalled for. She did very very well when you consider how many people entered the competition to start with. It's the first time I can recall an organist getting so far.

"They start rehearsals for the tour tomorrow and the beauty of it from Jean's point of view is she'll be playing at really big venues."

Accountant fraudster is sent to jail

THE former chairman of Tipton Town FC has started a five-and-a-half year jail sentence for pocketing more than £276,000 from the life insurance and pension policies of a murdered Wolverhampton father.

Accountant Bill Williams splashed the cash on luxury family holidays to the US, Aston Villa season tickets and lavish family parties.

The convicted fraudster set in motion plans to steal money owed to the two-year-old daughter of company director Andrew Diack just days after the 29-year-old from Fordhouses was stabbed to death in the former Flying Dutchman pub in Merry Hill.

Williams had listed himself as an executor of a life insurance and pension policy he helped to set up for father-of-one Mr Diack while working as his accountant.

Thousands was also ploughed into Tipton Town FC, while the rest was spent on clearing debts and office improvements for his Dudley-based accountancy firm.

It can now be revealed Williams also ripped off pensioners Ronald and Sheila Haynes for £97,000 in a separate fraud.

He was paying that money back at a rate of £2,000 a month but around £50,000 is still owed to the devastated Walsall couple, who had enlisted the father of two as an accountant.

Preyed

"He's taken our entire life savings and ruined us," said Mrs Haynes after the sentence.

At Wolverhampton Crown Court on Monday, Judge Amjad Nawaz described Williams as a man who "preyed on the vulnerable" for his own gain, telling him: "You have committed crime after crime, adding misery upon misery to the people you have come across.

"It was behaviour just to line your own pockets."

Williams, of Chester Road, West Bromwich, admitted two charges of fraud at a previous hearing and showed no emotion as he was away.

Homes suffer as lead thieves strike

METAL thieves ripped lead from 17 homes in Bilbrook in just one weekend. Canopies above windows and doors have been stripped as thieves cash in on soaring scrap prices.

Emergency repair work was under way this week at the homes on Orchard Lane and neighbouring Cherry Trees Lane.

Some residents revealed they had taken down remaining lead to stop the thieves returning.

Retired labourer Donald Statham, aged 77, from Orchard Lane, had metal removed from above his window and door.

He said: "It's worrying that there must have been someone doing this just 9ft away from my bed. They have taken the metal above the window and they have started taking the metal from above the door.

"I have taken the rest off though because I don't want them coming back."

Malcolm Butterton, a 60-year-old unemployed site manager from Cherry Trees Lane, added: "It has been happening for two or three months in Bilbrook."

Janet Goode, director of customer services at South Staffordshire Housing Association, said: "We have every sympathy with residents who have been affected by this recent spate of thefts and hope that those responsible can be swiftly brought to justice."

Life tenancies to be debated

A DEBATE on whether council tenancy should still be for life is being held in Wolverhampton.

The Wolverhampton Federation of Tenants' Associations is hosting the event on June 17 from 10 am to 12.30pm in the council chamber at the Civic Centre in St Peter's Square.

Speakers for the event will be Lesley Roberts, chief executive of Wolverhampton Homes, and Paul Lusk, an independent consultant.

In the chair will be Councillor Peter Bilson, deputy leader of Wolverhampton City Council.

Ann Guest , chairman of the federation said: "We are thrilled to have been successful in getting money to fund our project and we are pleased to hold this topical debate."

Call 01902 556816 for a booking form.

Care home staff are suspended

THREE members of staff at a care home in Wolverhampton have been suspended following an allegation of mistreating an elderly resident.

The Care Quality Commission and West Midlands Police confirmed an alleged incident at Woodside House in Moathouse Lane, Wednesfield, last Thursday was being investigated.

The home caters for 60 dementia sufferers and is run by the charity Methodist Homes For The Aged.

Festival rolls out the beer barrels

Around 2,000 people poured through the doors of Wulfrun Hall for the 36th Camra-organised evetn that ran from Thursday to Saturday. There were 75 real ales from all over Britain with micro-breweries from the Black Country particularly well represented.

Main organiser Jim Laws, aged 61, said the event attracted a new type of customer. "We have had quite a good turnout of younger people," the pub preservation officer for the Wolverhampton branch of Camra, said.

Banks's Brewery was represented with its popular Ruby Mild along with Enville beers, Lump Hammer, Cherry Blonde and Old Porter. Holden's brewery, based in Woodsetton, Dudley, supplied its May Becknott ale and South Staffordshire village Kinver produced Double Decker.

Wolverhampton Camra this month named The Swan Hotel, Brewood, country Pub of the Year. The Hogshead, Wolverhampton, scooped city pub title.

City coroner's post may end

WOLVERHAMPTON may lose its coroner under cost-saving plans when Richard Allen retires in September.

It has been proposed that instead of replacing him, the Black Country coroner Robin Balmain, who covers Walsall, Sandwell and Dudley, could take over his workload.

The city is the only one of the four Black Country boroughs that has its own coroner. The plans are being discussed at Wolverhampton City Council, which employs Mr Allen and which needs to save the authority £36 million this year and a further £60 million over the following four years.

Alistair Merrick, assistant director for city services, said all options on the future of the service were being considered. "While we are keen to make savings, these would have to be practical and not detrimental to the recently bereaved," he said

Councillor Bob Jones, who oversees city services, said: "The present coroner has done an excellent job over the years but this represents an opportunity for us to have a review and see if there are savings that can be made."

Mr Allen has confirmed his retirement but has declined to comment further.

Backing for breastfeeding effort

EFFORTS to increase breastfeeding in Wolverhampton will be celebrated at an event in Bilston.

Staff in different areas have teamed up to give backing to the Breastfeeding Peer Support service.

Officials from New Cross Hospital Maternity Unit, Wolverhampton Primary Care Trust, Wolverhampton Art Gallery and Bilston Craft Gallery are all promoting the event on June 23.

It will mark the achievements and efforts of all the supporters working across the city to support breastfeeding mothers and their families.

Staff at Bilston Craft Gallery will be hosting the event from 10am until 3pm.

It will include songs and poetry, antenatal breastfeeding classes, a baby-sling and breastfeeding clothing fashion show.

There will also be a creative and sensory play, games and activities for children, mothers and babies.

Wolverhampton Mayor Councillor Bert Turner and Mayoress Mrs Kath Turner will present training certificates.

It is free to breastfeeding women, mums-to-be and families with young children.

Housing company's drivers to get pay cut

DRIVERS are being asked to take pay cuts of up to £3,000 by council housing company Wolverhampton Homes.

Around 11 earning just above £22,000 a year have been told they are being paid too much. Directors and other staff are not being asked to take pay cuts.

The drivers work across the organisation's 23,500 council properties, taking materials to contractors carrying out repairs and clearing empty homes ready for new tenants.

Consultation about potential changes to terms and conditions concludes by August.

Shaun Aldis, director of property services, said: "Our customers deserve the best service for their money, so we are constantly looking at ways to work more efficiently. We are working closely with the staff affected and union representatives to ensure that the outcome is fair."

Unfair

Stuart Parker, a steward for the Union of Construction Allied Trades and Technicians, said: "The consultation is ongoing and there has been an offer proposed to us that we must discuss with the drivers. But until we have had further meetings we do not know what we are going to do.

"Wolverhampton Homes thinks they are paying the drivers too much."

A friend of one of the drivers, who asked not to be named, said: "It seems grossly unfair that these lads are facing pay cuts when the top boss is earning a six-figure sum."

Chief executive Lesley Roberts was paid £120,000-£134,000 last year, finance boss Philip Toni at least £86,000 and director of housing Mark Henderson and director of property services Shaun Aldis £81,000-£87,000.

Director of performance and customer services Margaret Wright and director of human resources Sue Kunynec were on a salary band of £71,000-£77,000. Head of operations Ian Meakin gets £49,000-£52,000.

Strawberry start to village festival

A WEEK-LONG cultural festival in Wombourne starts on Saturday.

The third Wombourne Music and Arts Festival gets under way with a strawberry and cream reception, followed by an opening concert by Lichfield Cathedral Choir.

Each night concerts will take place featuring local and national artists, including A Summer Serenade with the pupils of St Peter's School, Wolverhampton, a piano recital by Warren Mailley-Smith and an evening of rhythm, jazz and blues.

The festival finishes with a flourish the following Saturday, June 18, with a programme titled Last Night Of The Wombourne Proms at St Benedict's Church.

Each concert beginning at 7.30pm. A single event ticket costs £8 or a pass for the whole week can be bought for £35. For tickets or details call Jan Harrison on 01902 893450.

£5,000 rent drop sparks interest

THE rent on a former takeaway in Wolverhampton has been cut by £5,000 a year, sparking new interest.

Estate agent Towler Shaw Richards has dropped annual rent on the former Sopranos takeaway, Princess Street, to £25,000 after a potential deal collapsed in February.

Head of office at the Wolverhampton branch Richard Bache has confirmed the company is now in talks with a new party about the possibility of reopening the building. "It is positive but it is by no means a done deal," he said,

Sopranos closed in May 2009 with the loss of 15 jobs, but it briefly reopened again in December that year as a restaurant and bar.

Parlour coffee date

THE mayor and mayoress of Wolverhampton will host a coffee morning. The charity event on June 21 takes place from 10.30am to midday at the mayor's parlour in the Civic Centre. Entry is £1 and visitors get tea or coffee and a cake. All funds raised by mayoral events go to Compton Hospice, The Alzheimer's Society and the acute medical ward for dementia at New Cross Hospital.

Schools suspend 1,100 unruly pupils

MORE than 1,100 children were suspended from Wolverhampton schools in 15 months – including pupils as young as four for attacks on adults and other youngsters.

New figures show pupils from 49 of the city's schools have had to be sent home temporarily for acts of misbehaviour that include sexual misconduct, racism and assaults against pupils and teachers.

In total, 1,120 suspensions took place at schools between January 2010 and this March year, according to figures released by Wolverhampton City Council under the Freedom of Information Act. Bilston's Moseley Park School & Technology College tops the table for the highest number of suspensions, having excluded children on 199 occasions.

A four-year-old boy from Loxdale Primary School, Bilston, was suspended for assault against an adult.

Two five-year-old boys were sent home from Villiers Primary School, Bilston for being persistently disruptive.

And two six-year-old boys were suspended from St Patrick's Catholic Primary School, Wednesfield, after one assaulted an adult and the other attacked a fellow pupil.

Paul Rodbourn, regional officer for the Midland branch of the National Union of Teachers, said unacceptable behaviour was becoming more of a problem. "The attitudes of pupils are making the job of teaching increasingly difficult," he said.

He added that about 20 years ago, parents used to support teachers dealing with difficult children.

"That seems to have changed and many parents now blame the school rather than their children," he said.

But Tim Westwood, the council's assistant director for schools, skills and learning, said: "Pupil behaviour in Wolverhampton schools is generally very good."

Helping sick children is on the menu

RESIDENTS in three South Staffordshire villages are being urged to eat well, and help raise hundreds of pounds at the same time, to help ease the suffering of children in the Midlands with kidney disease.

Nurse Sue Cooper, who works in intensive care at New Cross Hospital, is organising an evening of fine dining with a twist in the village on July 9 in aid of the renal unit at Birmingham Children's Hospital.

The event, which is open to people in Brewood, Coven and Bishops Wood, will see diners having a three-course meal, with each course being provided by a different host.

The evening will finish at Brewood Middle School with a raffle.

Guests will be allocated to hosts at the start of the evening and Mrs Cooper is aiming to raise up to £3,000 for the unit.

The Market Place resident has had 15 people offer to be hosts and is hoping to sell more than 100 tickets.

Mrs Cooper, who lives in Brewood, is also appealing for donations of raffle prizes from businesses.

Tickets are £15. To book a place or to donate a raffle prize call 0779 8774087, or email fivecoopers@btinternet.com

Parents fined for pick-up parking

MORE the 100 parents have been fined for parking illegally outside school in Wolverhampton. Enforcement officers handed out the £70 fixed penalty charges as part of a council crackdown on cars clogging up roads.

The tickets were given to drivers who parked on zig-zag lines where cars are banned during school hours. Those who paid the fine within 14 days saw it cut to £35. Over the past 12 months 118 were handed out in the city.

Alistair Merrick, Wolverhampton City Council assistant director for city services, said: "Our aim is to prevent and deter dangerous and inconsiderate parking, ensuring the safety of pedestrians and other road users and penalty charge notices are only issued after efforts to dissuade such inappropriate parking."

Volunteers celebrate work

Wolverhampton volunteers celebrating awards at Molineux

WORK of volunteers who give up their time for youngsters across Wolverhampton was celebrated at a networking event.

More than 50 youth organisations were recognised at the celebration at Molineux. Some of the youngsters that benefit from the work of volunteers put on special performances as part of the event.

Organiser Stephen Dodd, from Youth Organisations Wolverhampton said it was about celebrating achievements and bringing groups together for networking. "There are a lot of voluntary organisations in the city, but there aren't many opportunities for them to learn about each other and showcase their work, so we included an opportunity to do that a part of the event," he said.

Among organisations recognised at the celebration was Spurgeons, which offers support to young carers, and Platform 51, which supports girls and women.

There were speed speeches by groups, and break-dancing, karate, cheerleading and street dancing demonstrations.

Arsonist target empty house

A CONSERVATORY exploded after petrol was poured throughout an empty Bilston home, firefighters said. Arsonists attacked isolated Bricklayers Cottage, Brierley Lane, just before 11pm on Friday.

A window was smashed and petrol poured in every room. The fire sparked a vapour explosion, which lifted the roof of the conservatory at the back of the home. Bilston and Tipton firefighters fought the fire and said whoever was responsible may have flash burns.

Neighbours said the detached house had been empty for a long time and did not know who owned it. Police urged witnesses to contact them on 0345 113 5000.

Church celebration

A CONCERT is being held to mark the 50th anniversary of The Most Holy Trinity Church, Farrington Road, Ettingshall Park. Wolverhampton Orpheus Male Voice Choir will perform there on Saturday from 7.30pm. Tickets are £5.

Call over collapse of homes

WOLVERHAMPTON MP Pat McFadden has said the Government must act to protect elderly residents at risk from the collapse of care home firm Southern Cross.

There is still an uncertain future for its homes, as the company struggles with financial losses of £311 million.

Even if the firm survives, many its smaller homesmay be forced to close, and residents moved to facilities further away from their family. It is also uncertain whether some residents will end up paying more for their care if they are forced to move.

The MP for Wolverhampton South East said: "In my constituency alone Bellevue Court and Aldergrove Manor look after over 100 elderly residents. If there are closures and residents are forced from their homes many will suffer anxiety and trauma."

No emotion as murderer jailed

MURDERER Stephen Dowds will spend at least 17 years in jail for a "terrible and sustained attack" on his lover.

Dowds, a college manager, stabbed his lecturer lover Mandy Finn to death in a drunken rage before sitting down to watch films.

He was jailed for life on Friday and told he must serve a minimum of 17 years, shortly after a Wolverhampton Crown Court jury found him guilty of murder.

He showed no emotion as Judge John Wait told him: "You went on stabbing and stabbing, even when she was on the ground you delivered further blows in your intent to kill her."

Dowds, who was student services manager at Wolverhampton College, had been drinking vodka with Miss Finn at their flat in Newhampton Road, Whitmore Reans, in the hours before she died. The 49-year-old father-of-two claimed to have then woken up and found the psychology lecturer dead behind the sofa.

Heavy drinker Dowds admitted the killing but said he had no memory of the attack.

Judge Wait said the killer, who sent a text to a friend after November's killing saying he was watching Godfather DVDs, thought only of himself after the attack.

Justice

Judge Wait said: "You knew what you had done straight away, but you lacked courage."

Miss Finn's family said in a statement: "Justice has been done for Mandy."

College principal Ian Millard said both Dowds and Miss Finn were "well liked" staff members.

The couple who triumped at work after their humble start

STEPHEN Dowds and Mandy Finn both had humble beginnings but ended up flying high in their chosen careers.

Dowds came to Wolverhampton from Northern Ireland at the age of just three or four.

He left grammar school at age 16 with just two O-Levels before spending a year at Wulfrun College and gaining an extra four qualifications before spending 10 years doing manual labour, lorry driving and factory jobs.

He met his wife Yvonne when he was 8 and she was 21, marrying within four months after what he described as a "whirlwind romance" in 1980.

But with the birth of two sons in the 1980s, Dowds said he wanted to "improve my life chances" and decided to go to night school, where he gained A-Levels in English Literature and business studies. The cinema lover went to Reading University, where gained a degree in English and film.

He spent four years at Regis School, now King's School in Tettenhall, as an English teacher until 1995 before going on to work as a performing arts coordinator at Wulfrun College before it became City of Wolverhampton College in 1999.

Dowds, who was trying to support his son who was suffering from depression, was also unable to come to terms with the loss of a close friend.

Struggling

His death from from neurone disease in 2006 left Dowds struggling for answers in life and he split from his wife.

Dowds started a relationship with a woman called Karen Riley in 2007, but it was said to have ended abruptly at the beginning of 2009.

Miss Riley said she discovered Dowds was still seeing Yvonne, a claim he denied.

But Dowds found comfort in Mandy Finn, a strong and independent mother of sisters Jade Stokes, aged 22, and 15-year-old Sallie-Jo. A former mechanic and long distance driver, she graduated in 2005 with a degree in psychology and was the highest achieving undergraduate.

She was also studying for a PhD in psychology at the University of Wolverhampton.

Jade said: "She was a passionate teacher and was dedicated to her students and did her utmost to help them achieve their dreams like she did.

"She inspired people and talked about her life experiences and how she climbed the ladder to success.

"She would make eyes turn when she entered a room. It wasn't just through her beauty, it was from her personality."

Mystery of what turned Mandy's lover into a killer

By Mike Woods

TO the outside world, they would have been the ideal couple.

He a successful and passionate teacher and she an outgoing, attractive mother-of-two who worked her way from a mechanic to a psychology lecturer at Wolverhampton College.

But the inner circle of Stephen Dowds and Mandy Finn knew the darker reality of their turbulent relationship that sometimes exploded into violence.

Now 49-year-old Dowds, who said he loved Miss Finn and wanted to spend the rest of his life with her, iss facing years behind bars after being found guilty of her murder.

But the precise catalyst that drove him to stab her 60 times remains a mystery.

Vodka-fuelled arguments, jealousy over Dowds' past relationships and uncertainty over his future at the college, where he had failed to get his old job back after being made to reapply for it, have all been explored by the prosecution as possibilities.

One theory is that Dowds, who described waking up to find his lover dead as a "Sid Vicious moment", attacked and then repeatedly stabbed her in an effort to stop her ringing 999.

The pair met in September 2006, when mother-of-two Miss Finn joined the college as a trainee teacher in humanities, where Dowds was head of school at the time.

Offered

He told his murder trial at Wolverhampton Crown Court: "She was a grade one teacher. She was professional, intelligent, hard working and conscientious."

When Dowds split up with a colleague at the college, she offered to be a "shoulder to cry on".

The pair began spending more and more time together as the relationship developed. Miss Finn was in another relationship and did not want to start an affair. But after the couple decided to take things slowly, she went home one night in March 2009 and told her boyfriend it was over.

Dowds was living with a friend on Balfour Crescent, off Tettenhall Road, at the time, while Miss Finn was living in Birmingham.

Just a month later, they went on their first holiday together – a trip marred by the couple's first argument. Dowds claimed Miss Finn dislocated his finger after drinking.

In May 2009, there was further trouble when at a Morrissey concert in Swindon, Dowds claimed to have seen Miss Finn leaving a disabled toilet with another man. Dowds left without her and she claimed to have no memory of what had happened. In April 2009, on a holiday in Venice Miss Finn was said to have attacked Dowds out of the blue on a coach after the couple shared two bottles of wine.

Left: Mandy Finn with her daughters Jade Stokes and Salli-Jo Cramman and, right, Stephen Dowds in Bargain Booze buying vodka the night before the murder

He accused Miss Finn of attacking him on a number of occasions, once stabbing him in the hand after he borrowed her car and crashed on a motorway.

Colleagues began to notice his injuries, and Dowds' repeated claims that he had accidentally hurt himself did not wash.

Rosemary Urkovskis, teaching and learning manager at the college's Bilston campus, said Dowds had returned to work from a summer break in 2009 with "lots of injuries".

Claimed

She said: "There were scratches on his face, neck and arms and there was a nasty bruise on the side of his face. There were imprints of fingers on his neck."

Miss Urkovskis said: "Every time I saw him, he seemed to have another set of scratches or he was limping. He had quite a few black eyes, his spectacles were broken – every time we saw him there was something else."

Dowds had claimed he had fallen downstairs and provided other excuses, but Miss Urkovskis said she did not believe his stories.

Jonathan Harris, a project manager at the college, urged Dowds to end his relationship with Mandy Finn because of repeated drink-fuelled violence he said she inflicted on him.

He said: "We talked about the violence and as his friend I told him I didn't think it was a healthy relationship to be in. In part he took the advice and conversations were had between himself and Mandy.

"We had a lot of conversations about ending the relationship. We started to consider the wording of a text to send. We wrote the text together but we didn't send it there and in hindsight I guess it wasn't sent."

Despite their stormy relationship, which was described as on and off by friends, Dowds claimed to have never laid a hand on Miss Finn.

But in October last year, that all changed when a "terrified" Miss Finn dialled 999 when Dowds attacked her.

The couple had returned from a Frankie Boyle gig at Wolverhampton's Civic Hall with a bottle of vodka when an argument erupted.

Alcohol appeared to have played a major part in the pair's relationship. Dowds was said to have begun drinking vodka after meeting Miss Finn. Sharing two bottles of vodka over the weekend became the norm.

A month before the murder, prosecutors said, Dowds pulled a kitchen knife on Miss Finn and "snarled" that he would kill her.

Dowds denied that, but admitted hitting her in what he described as a bar-room brawl.

Miss Finn called 999 and he was arrested, charged and bailed to appear before court. He sought help from his GP for the way alcohol had made him react, and had been due to see a specialist in the days after the killing.

Despite being ordered to stay away from Miss Finn, who was studying for a PhD in psychology at the University of Wolverhampton, the pair were soon living together again.

In the days before her death, the couple were said by friends to be fully reconciled.

Dowds had failed in an effort to get his old job back when he was made to reapply for it under a re-structuring at the college.

Leaving

He complained of being in a "Micky Mouse" post, but by November last year he said he was satisfied that his position at the university was secure.

Both he and Miss Finn, who had talked about leaving the college to set up a cafe, were happy with the direction their careers were going in.

In the days before she died, Miss Finn had been on a residential course teaching sociology students.

A friend recalled that they were "all loved up" and could not wait to see each other again when Dowds collected Miss Finn on November 19 last year. Exactly what happened over the next 72 hours looks set to remain a mystery, but in one text message, sent at 10pm on November 19, just a few hours before she was killed, Miss Finn told a friend: "Would love you to meet Steve.

"He's someone you would be proud to be with me. Much in common. He likes me for my background. He's the same as us."

Dowds told the court how on the night of the tragedy, the couple were "celebrating" new opportunities that had opened up for them at the college.

He bought a bottle of vodka from Bargain Booze on Tettenhall Road, Newbridge, and later, he recalled, the pair were "drinking and being silly" as they danced in their flat to 1980s music.

"The very last thing I remember is holding hands, looking at each other with our tongues out in a stupid way," he said.

"The next thing I remember is waking up on the settee. I've tried every single day, every single minute to remember what happened."

Dowds said he had seen four psychiatrists and offered to speak to "anybody who will listen" in a bid to jog his memory. Dowds said his first recollection after dancing with Miss Finn was waking up on the settee in the pitch black and still fully clothed. Drunk, tired and cold, he went upstairs to bed before waking up again when it was partially light.

Dowds, who had by now undressed, said: "I looked in the spare bedroom for Mandy and I went downstairs. I noticed that the chair was knocked over and looked behind the settee and that's when I saw her."

Dowds said he felt shock, horror and disbelief and began trying to "put together a picture" of what happened.

"I didn't even think there was any ill-feeling. I went upstairs and saw my clothes were blood-stained. I came back and just stood there in disbelief trying to remember what happened."

Dowds said he put on his blood-stained clothes and sat with his back to a wall near Miss Finn's feet and looked at her.

"I knew she was dead, she was cold. I sat and sat, trying to work out what had happened. There was nothing there. I talked to her, touched her and I thought it was my time to go as well. I had thoughts of killing myself as a result of what I had done. I couldn't see how it could have been anybody else."

Message

Dowds said time was "lost" to him as he sat by her body, before finishing off the night's vodka and falling asleep next to her.

"The next thing I remember is thinking I've got to do something, either get enough courage to kill myself or do something else."

By now, Dowds told jurors, it was Sunday afternoon. He sent a message to his ex-wife saying: "I'm sorry for any hurt I caused you. Be happy."

After deciding not to go through with a "cowardly" suicide, Dowds called police after being urged to do so by a friend. Dowds tidied up ahead of the police's arrival, taking vodka bottles out to be recycled and folding his bloodied clothes into a pile.

But he could not recall any argument with Miss Finn, or her having a knife, and could never foresee using such violence.

Text messages from Dowds to a friend suggested he had sat down to watch the Godfather Trilogy and Taxi Driver after the killing.

Schools revamp plan in autumn

PLANS to revamp another four schools as part of Wolverhampton's £270 million Building Schools for the Future programme will be submitted to the city council by autumn.

If approved by the council, phase two of the project is due to be given the all-clear by the Department for Education at the end of the year before building works begin in early 2012. It comes as education bosses in the city admitted BSF was on track and progressing well.

Schools in the next phase of the scheme include Colton Hills Community School in Goldthorn Park, Moreton Community School, Bushbury, Our Lady and St Chad Catholic Sports College, Fallings Park and St Edmund's Catholic School, Tettenhall.

The sample phase was launched last year, with work under way at The King's School and Tettenhall Wood Special School on the same site in Tettenhall, as well as Highfields Science Specialist School and Penn Fields School in Penn, also on the same site, which are all being rebuilt.

In phase one, which started earlier this year, South Wolverhampton and Bilston Academy is being completely rebuilt, while Coppice Performing Arts School and Wednesfield High will all undergo major refurbishments totalling £59.8m.

Refurbishment projects in phase two are expected to be completed by autumn 2012.

Opportunity

Tim Westwood, assistant director for schools, skills and learning at the council, said: "The first pupils to be involved will be benefitting by the end of next year."

Councillor Phil Page, cabinet member for schools, said: "BSF is a fantastic opportunity for our city, not only to improve learning opportunities for our young people but also to create and safeguard hundreds of jobs and develop the skills of the people of Wolverhampton."

The overall BSF scheme will lead to the rebuilding or refurbishment of 25 secondary schools in the city.

Sister Sue decides to sign off

Sue Bowden celebrates her retirement from Dale Medical Practice with other staff members Sue Brookes, Jane Burns and Elaine Bickley

A WARD sister who served on the childrens's wards of two Wolverhampton hospitals has retired after 39 years with the NHS.

Sue Bowden worked with thousands of children at both The Royal and New Cross Hospital. Mrs Bowden spent the last 15 years of her career as a nurse at Dale Medical Practice in Planks Lane, Wombourne, where she was given a warm send-off by staff and patients.

The 60-year-old mother of three from Torvale Road, Wightwick, said: "I have not regretted a day of my working life. It has been wonderful but now it is time to slow down a bit."

Air show sales soar as line-up revealed

THE line-up for this year's Cosford Air Show has been revealed as organisers tipped a bumper crowd of 60,000 people to attend the event.

Aircraft including the Hurribomber, Hurricane, Spitfire and Avro Vulcan will return for the June 12 show after being credited with boosting last year's event which pulled in 50,000 people.

A woman, Flt Lt Juliette Fleming, will fly the Hawk aircraft for the first time and the Yakovlevs, a flying display team are back.

Organisers said ticket sales were already up five per cent on last year.

Strong

Air Show marketing co-ordinator John Francis, said: "The show is always supported by our local people and it is nice to know we have that core of support. It is a family event.

"This year we have people coming from far and wide to see the air display, especially with a return in 2011 from the Avro Vulcan.

"Ticket sales are up on this time last year and are very encouraging. It points to a strong interest in Cosford Air Show, now established as one of the top summer events in the Midlands."

The world famous O'Brien's Flying Circus will be appearing with organisers saying that it will provide "awe-inspiring crazy flying displays" for spectators.

Families shattered by ex-boxer's fatal punch

A FITNESS instructor admitted killing his best friend with a single punch to the chin in a New Year's Day row over the sister of X Factor star Liam Payne. Trained boxer Martin Gannon struck ex-soldier Craig Glaze, rupturing an artery and triggering a brain haemorrhage from which he never recovered.

Gannon, a 24-year-old personal trainer at Wolverhampton Swimming and Fitness Centre, Wednesfield, appeared at the city's crown court last week where he admitted the manslaughter of Mr Glaze.

The 25-year-old victim lived next to his attacker on Cromwell Road, Bushbury.

Police said after the case that Gannon learned on New Year's Eve that Mr Glaze had had a "brief relationship" with his ex-girlfriend Nicola Payne, sister of singer Liam.

It happened after her split with Gannon but he confronted Mr Glaze at his house the following morning. He died the next day.

Judge John Warner bailed Gannon ahead of sentencing but warned of the "almost inevitable sentence."

Det Ch Insp Darren Crutchley said: "They had known each other since they were knee high and it was an extremely close relationship, to the point where the reality of that breach of trust was something Gannon could never accept."

The victim Craig Glaze was father to a three-year-old boy

Martin Gannon admitted the manslaughter of his best friend

Serving

The men were childhood friends with a seemingly inseparable bond.

But hours after they celebrated New Year's Eve together, a single punch from former boxer Martin Gannon left Craig Glaze dead and two families shattered.

Friends for some 20 years, Mr Glaze and Gannon were even neighbou rs on Cromwell Road.

Former Northicote School pupil Mr Glaze, who had a three-year-old son, had spent 18 months serving with the Queen's Royal Hussars driving tanks and spent several months in Iraq.

Friends and ex-colleagues of the 25-year-old former soldier spoke of "a fantastic person" and a "true soldier".

After the leaving the military, he is understood to have been working in the construction industry.

Gannon, meanwhile, is a keep fit fanatic and was a friend of 17-year-old X Factor singer Liam Payne, of boy band One Direction.

The personal trainer, who lists Rocky as his favourite film, had been a keen boxer who fought in a championship.

He dated Liam's sister Nicola for many years until their split in 2010.

Gannon remained friends with Liam and was one of only 11 people chosen to cheer on Liam, also from Bushbury, in the X Factor studios in Wembley in December.

He had been there to watch the teenager's musical dream come to life over the years, and was there to offer his support as the family travelled to the capital to cheer on One Direction in the grand final of the show.

A friend of Gannon's said that he had remained close to Liam's family.

The friend, who asked not to be named, said: "He sometimes talked about how proud he was of Liam and all his success.

"It is a huge shock that something like this has happened. He seemed a lovely lad.

"It is such a shame that just a few weeks before the death he was so happy with everything that was going on and all of Liam's success.

Mr Glaze leaves a brother Ryan, 19, and a sister Rebecca, 14.

After the case his parents were too upset to discuss the tragedy, but speaking at the time, Reginald Glaze, aged 45, and Craig's 43-year-old mother Yvonne said: "The family would like to say thank you for the support of family and friends. Craig was a lovely, gentle son, brother, partner and father.

"He will be sadly missed."

Gannon will be sentenced on a date to be fixed.

What about those roofs?

It is good news the council have agreed to spend £13.4 million on the rundown shops in the Summer Row area, but of great concern that it may be three years before any work begins.

The properties at the lower end of Victoria Street, which, although not listed, are nevertheless in a designated conservation area, have been allowed to be vandalised and have their roofs stripped to the extent that one worries how damage has been done inside.

These were part of Multi-development's grand plan to refurbish most of the Victoria Street and Worcester Street properties as part of the wonderful scheme to transform the fortunes of the south side of the city centre.

How have the owners of these buildings been allowed to let them fall into such poor repair?

What can the council do, financially or legally, to protect them, before there is nothing left to save?

BRIDGE CORNER

THIS is the second almost identical hand that I have met in a fortnight.

In the last hand South opened Five Diamonds, was doubled and made it. This time, however, West is the dealer and so has the initiative.

He can open One Club, East responding with One Spade.

Even so, South should again climb in with a Five Diamonds bid.

West decides to double. East, thinking his kings might be useful, leaves the double in for penalties.

But if West leads the ace of spades, followed by the king, South can ruff and play the king of hearts.

He can then overtake the queen with the ace in Dummy and ditch the three of clubs on the jack of hearts.

South can now take the diamond finesse as he is in Dummy. West can eventually make his ace of clubs, but it is too late for East to cash the king.

South loses only one spade and one club, making his contract.

However, if West cashes his two aces, followed by a club to the king, South promptly goes one off.

East-West have five losers if they play in clubs or spades.

A big, fat penalty double by North would then be appropriate.

Players who wish to improve their bidding and play are welcome to join us on a Saturday morning. Phone 01902 756859.

Vote for cycle project

The Staffordshire-based, Chase Trails Cycle Project, is calling on your readers to vote for them in the semi-finals of The National Lottery Awards 2011. The awards recognise the difference that Lottery-funded projects – both big and small – make to local communities.

The Chase Trails Cycle Project, which involves local people in the design, build, maintenance and use of mountain bike trails in Cannock Chase, has been selected as one of only 10 projects in the Best Sport Project category.

Chase Trails Cycle Project now needs the public's vote to help them reach the next stage of the competition. If it gets through, the project will have the chance to receive national recognition on a BBC One TV show later this year and a £2,000 cash prize to spend on its project.

Anyone can vote by going to www.lotterygoodcauses.org.uk/awards or calling 0844 836 9721. Voting ends at midday on Monday 20 June.

Think about fostering

My wife and I became foster carers 12 years ago after our own two children had left home. I can safely say there is nothing to match the priceless rewards of watching children from difficult backgrounds flourish under your guidance.

Hundreds more foster carers are urgently needed across the West Midlands, for children of all ages, but especially teenagers. Without more foster carers children face moving a long way from their family and friends and being split up from their brothers or sisters.

I feel proud to have been able to make a difference to the lives of so many children. Foster Care Fortnight has just raised the profile of fostering, but new foster carers are needed all year round.

I would urge anyone who has ever thought about fostering to get in touch with their local fostering service today, or visit www.couldyoufoster.org.uk or call Fosterline on 0800 040 7675 to find out more.

LOUISE LOOKS BACK 50 YEARS

Red-faced scout leaders in Wolverhampton issued 'behave yourself' orders to members of the 37th (Wimborne Road) Sea Scout troop after they made a night time raid on two girl guide companies camping in Patshull Hall Park.

In a midnight prank, the sea scouts raided the tents of the 2nd Bushbury and 1st Falling Park Girl Guide Companies. They capsized some of the tents before the girls took up battle stations and routed them.

Laughing gleefully, the scouts made off back to their own camp hoping to be swallowed up in the darkness – but the matter did not end there.

Fearing parents might begin to have second thoughts about whether their daughters were safe at camp, Miss S Parkins, the guide's divisional camp adviser, sent an immediate protest to her counterpart in the scouts, asking him to investigate and stamp out any future escapades.

Only two sea scout troops, the 10th (Newbridge) and the 37th were camping in the area at the time. A hurried 'we didn't do it' denial from the 10th put the blame fairly and squarely at the feet of their pals in the 37th.

Wolverhampton's population was 150,385 – a drop of 7.6 per cent since the previous census 10 years earlier. There were 75,694 women, a 1,033 surplus over the number of men.

Comments on the preliminary report of the 1961 census taken in April, a Wolverhampton medical authority said there was a surplus of women because they survived longer than men.

The population of Tettenhall had doubled to 14,800. In Wednesfield it had increased by 15,568 to 32,986 and in Willenhall by 1,621 to 32,317.

Amidst colour and pageantry unrivalled in 633 years at York Minster, Miss Katharine Worsley, 28-year-old daughter of Sir William Worsley, the Lord Lieutenant of the North Riding of Yorkshire, became the new Duchess of Kent on her marriage to the 25-year-old Duke of Kent.

Wolverhampton was represented by Mr and Mrs Martin Mander. Mrs Mander was second cousin to Katharine.

Poisoning peril for children

HUNDREDS of children in the Black Country have been treated for poisoning after ingesting drugs or alcohol in the past two years.

Cocaine, heroin and anti-depressants are among the drugs which have led to hospital treatment for hundreds of under-18s in the region since 2009. In one case, a two-year-old boy was rushed to Sandwell General Hospital after taking anti-depressants.

The figures relate to admissions in Wolverhampton, Walsall, Dudley and Sandwell in the financial years 2009/10 and 2010/11. They show more than 150 under-18s have been treated for poisoning at New Cross Hospital, Wolverhampton, including a dozen aged 13 to 18 who were treated for alcohol poisoning and at least three children aged under six for medication for colds.

Home plan for fitness club site

PLANS have been submitted to build a care home on the site of the former Elysium health club near Wolverhampton, creating 30 jobs.

Telford-based Foresite Architectural Ltd, acting on behalf Rectory Care Ltd, bought the former Elysium Health and Fitness Club in Albrighton last year.

An application to build a 30-bed care home on the site in Rectory Road has now been submitted.

The plans also include a new car park and landscaping work in the grounds.

Managing director Mike Turner said: "We will be looking to employ people from the local area, and we're probably looking at about 30 jobs in different areas, but predominantly care assistants."

It is hoped the site could be open this year.

Elysium Health and Fitness Club shut down in March last year.

Jimmy Wick, from Wickid Pets, Wolverhampton, with Pica the magpie, who has been hand reared

Hand-reared Pica prepares to fly the nest

MEET Pica the magpie who is preparing to fly the nest after being nurtured almost from birth by staff at a Wolverhampton animal park.

The six-week-old bird arrived at the city's bustling menagerie Wickid Pets days after he was born. He had been taken in by vets at the Cavan surgery in Stafford Road who did not know where else to turn. Staff quickly took the tiny feathered friend under their wing.

They fed him a diet of cat and dog food before heading out and about around their site to catch bugs for his meals as he got older.

Feature

He made his maiden flight last week and will continue to explore his home, off the A449 Stafford Road in Dunstall, until he is ready to leave his aviary permanently.

Owner Jimmy Wick, aged 39, says visitors have followed Pica's progress keenly.

"All the staff have contributed to hand-rearing him, and he's become quite a feature," said Mr Wick, who has been looking after animals for 20 years and running Wickid Pets for the last two.

"He flies free now, albeit a little clumsily. He will be released on site so he can come and go as he pleases.

"He is just about ready now but he is very tame as he has been hand-reared. We will have to put food out for him for the rest of his life."

Staff named Pica after the Latin name for magpie.

HEARING AID AND HEARING LOSS EVALUATION

WANTED - VOLUNTEERS

If you are fitted with hearing aids and still experience problems OR just starting to notice or have ongoing hearing difficulties

At various centres throughout England & Wales, hearing aid audiologists from REGIONAL HEARING SERVICES, on selected days throughout the year, are using speech mapping equipment - a more effective way to carry out routine hearing tests. Even if you wear hearing aids it can establish:-

HOW MUCH SPEECH REACHING YOUR HEARING AID ACTUALLY REACHES YOUR EARDRUM?

There are limited places each day. If chosen you will receive:-

• A Hearing Evaluation (no charge) •
• A Personal Hearing Aid Analysis if an existing user (no charge) •
Please attend with your existing hearing instruments
• Measurement of sounds directed at your eardrum (no charge) •

If you are an existing hearing aid wearer we can check that your hearing aid is still addressing your hearing loss, and how much of the speech reaching your hearing aid actually reaches your eardrum.

If you don't wear hearing aids we can use our state-of-the-art technology to demonstrate the benefits of a hearing aid to someone who has never worn one before, and our hearing loss simulator enables friends or relatives to experience what it's like to have a hearing loss.

Volunteer now for our next Speech Mapping exercise at:-

Tuesday 14th June - WALSALL
Menzies Barons Court Hotel, Walsall Wood, Walsall WS9 9AH

Wednesday 15th June - WOLVERHAMPTON
Wolverhampton Racecourse, Dunstall Park, Wolverhampton WV6 OPE

Thursday 16th June - LEAMINGTON SPA
Holiday Inn Leamington Spa-Warwick, Olympus Avenue, Tachbrook Park, Leamington Spa CV34 6RJ

To book your place call FREE on 0800 612 7991
Please quote ref: MP WS 04 when calling. Lines open weekdays, 8am - 8pm (weekends, 10am - 5pm)

IMPORTANT NOTE: There are two main parts to each one-hour process. FIRST you will have your hearing tested using the Speech Mapping equipment. If you already wear hearing aids, this will reveal how effective they are. The results of this, and a questionnaire we will ask you to complete, will go towards our research. Personal details will remain totally confidential. SECOND - based on the results, and as long as you have a hearing loss that is treatable, you will be advised on possible solutions which may include options to buy hearing aids.

*Please visit www.regionalhearingservices.co.uk/speechmapping for more information. And for all your hearing aid battery needs please visit www.hearingaid-batteryclub.co.uk

MEMORY LANE

by Alec Brew

THERE is an honours board at Aldersley Stadium featuring the city's centenary sports clubs – those which have been in existence for more than 100 years.

The oldest is Wolverhampton Cricket Club, which was founded in 1835. The club played at many grounds during Victorian times, but in 1890 settled on its current Danescourt site, and only recently replaced its old wooden pavilion, which served for more than a century, with a smashing new one. The beautiful tree-fringed ground at Danescourt has hosted many fine cricketers over the years, from WG Grace himself to Allan Donald.

The club came into its own after the war, coming to dominate the Midlands club championships which it won seven times in the 1970s alone.

In 1989 it joined the Birmingham League, probably the best in the country, and certainly the oldest club league in the World.

Impressive

Wolverhampton won the competition in only its second season in 1990, and again in 1998, coming second in 2009, and won the National Club Knockout Trophy in 1973 and 1999. Each week the club fields five adult teams on a Saturday and two on Sundays, a scheduled squeezed onto its two Danescourt grounds plus Tettenhall College's equally picturesque ground.

The club runs an impressive youth section fielding seven junior teams, one in each age group from under 9s to under 15s, with up to 120 boys and girls, scores of whom play for their county, usually Staffordshire or Shropshire. The under 13 side alone have won the Staffordshire county title 19 times since 1987, the West Midlands league 11 times and the East Shropshire league eight times, and have been one of the top four teams in the country, 12 times, winning the National Title in 2009.

The other age groups have similarly impressive records and not surprisingly the junior section not only produces a conveyor belt of players for the adult teams, but also adult county players.

Only last week 16-year-old Aneesh Kapil made his first team debut for Worcestershire, scoring 44 in a Pro-40 match following the example of Vikram Solanki, who also rose through the Wolverhampton Cricket Club junior ranks.

The twins Charlotte and Catherine Whyle, who started their cricket at Wolverhampton, but moved later to other clubs, were selected last week for the England Under 18 tour of South Africa, following in the footsteps of Georgia Elwiss, who played in Wolverhampton's and Staffordshire's boys teams to under 15 level and is now in the full England squad.

For 176 years the thwack of leather on willow has been a feature of the Danescourt scenery, and with the new clubhouse sustaining the club into the future, cricket seems set to thrive there for further countless decades.

Vikram Solanki, a product of the Wolverhampton junior section, playing for the England one day team

Stench is forcing families indoors

AN acrid stench is driving families indoors in Coven Heath after making an unwelcome comeback.

Residents believe the sickly odour is wafting from the TEG recycling plant, formerly Simpro, in Lawn Lane, Coven.

They say it has prevented them from enjoying their gardens during the recent good weather and has forced them to keep their house windows shut. Complaints were last made about the stink three years ago but residents say it has returned in recent weeks.

TEG recycles garden waste at the plant and said it stopped "turning material" as soon as the latest complaint was raised.

Linda and Peter Tomkins, of Meadow Lane, complained to the Environment Agency, which is setting up a meeting.

Mrs Tomkins said: "The smell is sickly and gets you right in your stomach. I'm a very keen gardener and I have an allotment behind our house but the smell is terrible – we're besieged by it."

They have lived there for 10 years.

Fergus Healy, TEG operations director, said: "When TEG took over Simpro last year we were aware there had been some problems with odour.

"We have worked with the Environment Agency to find a satisfactory solution through strict inventory control and the need to take account of the wind direction when deciding when to screen and shred material.

"When the complaint was brought to our attention on Friday we had been turning material, and this operation was stopped immediately.

"We are committed to being considerate neighbours and will work with both the Environment Agency and Mr and Mrs Tomkins to minimise any inconvenience."

In 2008 there were complaints in Fordhouses and as far as Compton about a smell.

Wolverhampton City Council has used the Simpro site since introducing its green household waste kerbside collection in April 2003.

Coven Heath residents, Linda and Pete Tomkins object to the smell from the nearby TEG recycling plant

Second round in village judging

THE second round of judging for Staffordshire's Best Kept Village competition has just got under way.

New teams of judges will now look at all the villages for a second time and the best large and small villages will progress to the district finals in early July.

Entrants that do not make it through will be hoping to achieve a 'Highly Commended' award.

In the first round judges have been impressed by the "very high" standards achieved by several villages.

Displays

John Perry is chairman of the Best Kept Village Working Group which organises the competition on behalf of the Community Council of Staffordshire.

He said: "We have already seen wonderful displays of children's posters, immaculate churchyards, wonderful small open spaces and plenty of evidence of community involvement and effort.

"Judging is well under way and the early signs are that standards will be very high in many villages and that competition will be keen so it will not be easy to separate some villages.

"There is still a long way to go in the competition and things will not become clearer until the end of June. Until then, we wish all the villages well."

Society tunes up for events

WOMBOURNE and District Choral Society is tuning up for two forthcoming events.

I was glad – a Treasury of English Anthems is due to be held on July 16 at 7.30pm at St Mary and St Chad, Brewood. Tickets £8 (under 18s free)

The society will present its workshop led by Ian Clarke, A Musical Treasure Hunt around the British Isles on September 17 at Beckminster Methodist Church, Birches Barn Road, Wolverhampton from 10 am-4.30 pm (£10). Free concert at 5pm.

Joy as school does do better

A CODSALL school with more than 1,000 pupils is celebrating after being rated as outstanding by Ofsted inspectors – three years after being deemed satisfactory.

Codsall Community High School has "achieved a great deal since the school was last inspected", an open letter to students states.

Robert Barbour, who led the inspection team that visited the Elliotts Lane school this month, praised its leadership, teaching, curriculum and results.

He also found the school had outstanding "capacity for sustained improvement", praising the way lessons had been learned from the previous Ofsted report in 2007.

Singled out for special mention was that "in their running of the school, leaders and managers go to extra-ordinary lengths to make sure students have a strong voice".

Staging plea for members

Actors at an amateur dramatics group in Wombourne are on the lookout for new members.

Wombourne Players need new performers, and people can come to Monday rehearsals at Wombourne Community Centre, in Church Road, from 8pm. Details on www.wombourneplayers.org.uk

£40m plans wrangle set for top court

THE row over the location of Wolverhampton's £40 million student village is go to the highest court in the land next year.

Wolverhampton City Council will appear before the Supreme Court in London on February 7 and 8 in a dispute over the Victoria Hall student accommodation.

The council had granted planning permission for four buildings on the outskirts of the city centre and developer, Victoria Halls, then went on to build three.

However, they are within the blast zone of two propane gas tanks stored at nearby Carvers Building Supplies.

Last summer, the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) won a Court of Appeal case against the city council, forcing it to review planning permission for the unbuilt fourth block.

But that decision set a legal precedent, with judges saying councils have a right to consider the cost of compensation to developers when deciding whether or not to revoke planning permission.

It means the council could still allow the fourth block to be built to avoid paying out substantial sums of taxpayers' money to reimburse Victoria Halls for lost earnings.

Amanda Wood, for the HSE, said: "While HSE welcomes the unanimous decision of the Court of Appeal that Wolverhampton City Council unlawfully failed to consider whether to use its powers to revoke or modify the planning permission, it is appealing to the Supreme Court on the 2:1 majority ruling that the cost of compensation may now be a material consideration in revocation/modification decisions."

Looking

Unless the tanks are moved, the redevelopment of the Springfield Brewery site and creation of a multi-million pound supermarket at Peel Retail Centre, off Stafford Road, may not be allowed.

Henry Carver, managing director of Carvers Building Supplies, is still trying to arrange for a suitable site.

"We're looking to move but we haven't found a site yet," he said. "One of the ones we had looked at the HSE refused to approve."

The HSE would not give its blessing to moving the gas tanks to a former canal basin off Bilston Road but has not given its reasons.

Dance that led to 50 golden years

Couple's wedding day

IT was love at first sight for George and Patricia Hillman when they met as teenagers at a dance more than five decades ago. Now, the happy couple have waltzed their way to their golden wedding.

Despite both living in The Scotlands and working at Penn's Villiers drop forging works, the pair did not set eyes on each other until the dance at the former Royal Oak pub in Blackhalve Lane.

Wonderful

"It was love at first sight," declared Mrs Hillman, now aged 74. "I went with a friend who knew George and he had a dance with her before asking me. We got on well straight away and have never looked back.

The pair married on June 3 1961 at St Mary's Church, Bushbury and have lived in their home on the Underhill estate in Cannock Road for the past 46 years.

Mr Hillman, now 78, said: "I was attracted by the fact that she was a pleasant girl with a wonderful nature which she has never lost. I would not swap her for the world. Asking her to dance was the best move of my life."

George and Patricia Hillman toast 50 years

Hospitals' bill for no-show patients

More than 1,200 people across the Black Country and Staffordshire failed to turn up at hospital for non-emergency operations, procedures and appointments in just three months.

The no-show patients have been accused of wasting time and money and putting their own health and that of others at risk.

A total of 1,247 people failed to attend local hospitals including Wolverhampton's New Cross, Walsall Manor and Russells Hall in Dudley.

Patients in South Staffordshire and Sandwell were the most unreliable, clocking up 799 missed "elective admission" hospital appointments between them.

An elective admission is one that has been arranged in advance and is not an emergency.

Wastes

According to the latest Department for Health figures, 576 South Staffordshire patients referred by their GPs failed to attend their hospital appointment between October and December 2010.

Dr Ken Deacon, medical director of South Staffordshire Primary Care Trust, said: "This not only costs the NHS thousands of pounds but also wastes clinician time and prevents other patients who may urgently need an appointment from getting one."

The number of missed appointments was 223 in Sandwell, 163 in Wolverhampton, 141 in Walsall and 77 in North Staffordshire.

Dudley had the fewest amount of missed appointments, with just 77.

Alfie survived three heart attacks

Alfie Green with mother Stacey Green and father Leonard Bratt

THIS miracle Wolverhampton baby is now all smiles after being "dead" for 17 minutes and surviving three heart attacks in as many hours.

Alfie Green was just three weeks old when he went through the ordeal as doctors battled to save his life.

They had almost given up on bringing the 6lb 2oz baby back to life when his tiny heart started beating again.

His relieved mother Stacey, aged 24, a special needs teaching assistant, said: "I just can't believe Alfie has survived three heart attacks. "When his heart stopped beating for so long we really thought we had lost him, but he's a little fighter. When it started beating again I just cried with relief."

Alfie, now nine months old, was healthy when born at the city's New Cross Hospital last September. But when Miss Green and partner Leonard Bratt, aged 25, a building site ground worker, took him shopping near their home in Wednesfield one afternoon, he suddenly stopped breathing.

Terrified, the couple called paramedics and at the hospital were told that Alfie had suffered a heart attack.

Miss Green said: "They told us they were trying to resuscitate him but he wasn't responding. His heart had already been stopped for 17 minutes.

"I really thought that we had lost him, but then one of the doctors suddenly shouted that his heart had started beating again. It just seemed like a miracle." Over the next two hours, Alfie suffered another two heart attacks, and his heart stopped each time, for 10 minutes and then for two. Each time the doctors managed to restart his heart.

Miss Green said: "It was absolutely terrifying." Alfie was transferred to Birmingham Children's Hospital where a scan revealed bleeding on his brain caused by the attacks, but there is no sign of brain damage that medics feared Alfie might have suffered.

Awards for care eyed up

TWO eye specialists from Wolverhampton, described by their patients as thorough, caring and giving personal attention have been nominated for a national award.

Martin Overton (47) and Rosie Browning (25) of Overton Eye Care Optometrists, Cannock Road, are in the running for the Macular Disease Society's annual Clinical Services of the Year Award.

It recognises outstanding efforts to help improve the treatment, care, and quality of life of people with the condition. Macular disease affects the eye and causes loss of central vision.

The winners will be chosen in September.

Mayor to lead prayers

AN annual celebration of Wolverhampton will take place on July 10.

Civic Sunday is the first public ceremonial occasion on which the new mayor leads the council and the people of Wolverhampton in an act of worship.

Councillor Bert Turner has just been appointed mayor for the coming year.

The event will begin with a parade of uniformed military and civilian organisations, including units from the regular and volunteer forces, preservice units and veterans, led by the Pipe Band of the West Midlands Fire Service. The parade will set off from Wulfruna Street at 10.35am and march to St Peter's Collegiate Church via Prince's Square, Lichfield Street, Queen Square and St Peter's Square.

The civic procession will leave the Civic Centre at 10.45am, proceed across St Peter's Square and into church.

Talents sign up for tour

FANS of Britain's Got Talent will get the chance to see local acts Jean Martyn and MJ Mytton-Sanneh perform live when the show comes to the region this month.

Jean, aged 59, from Brewood, who wowed the judges with her flamboyant organ-playing, and Wolverhampton-based MJ, part of boy band New Bounce, are among the first acts lined up for Britain's Got Talent stage tour, which will be at Birmingham's National Indoor Arena on June 25. Tickets start at £35.

The live show will be compered by Stephen Mulhern, the presenter of ITV2's Britain's Got More Talent.

Goodyear site homes up for sale

THE "For Sale" signs are set to go up at hundreds of homes being built on the former Goodyear factory site in Wolverhampton.

More than 300 properties are being built on the site in a joint venture between regeneration specialist St Modwen and housebuilder Persimmon.

The site is being redeveloped by West Midlands-based St Modwen to include a new Aldi supermarket, homes, community facilities and green space.

The first homes are expected to be released for sale in the late summer.

Lew cleans up on Facebook fan site

A STREET cleaner who won the nation's hearts in ITV documentary Grimefighters has more than a thousand fans on the internet.

Lew Carrington is a 64-year-old litter picker from Wolverhampton. He has become an ambassador for his city with a core of fans thanks to his cheery demeanour and Black Country phrases, such as "all right me mucka, 'ow am ya?"

There are 1,373 members of the Lewis Carrington Grimefighters Fanclub on social networking website Facebook.

"I've even had someone ask to meet me because it's her little boy's birthday soon and he apparently has a present for me, but I've no idea what it is", he said. Lew, who keeps the streets of Pendeford, Tettenhall pool and West Park clean, said: "Lot's of people recognise me now.

"I've had people come up to me in Asda and ask if they can have a picture with me. They even recognise when I'm not in my uniform.

"I've been on holiday in the Cotswolds and people have asked 'are you that bloke off the telly'?"

The Facebook group was set up by Lew's daughter Carla Youssef, aged 32, and her husband, Bahjay. His wife Gillian, 60, is a cleaner.

Lew Carrington has more than a thousand of internet fans

Tyres

Lew, who has worked for the council's street scene department for three years, is considering retiring when he is 65 next February but has not decided yet.

On video sharing website YouTube a favourite clip show Lew clearing up a caravan which was filled with tyres and set alight.

As he talks to camera a tyre flies off a digger and hits him. "I thought I was going to get in trouble for that one", he said.

Design success for student Lisa

A CREATIVE student from the University of Wolverhampton has received a top award for her design solution for a takeaway meal for two.

Lisa Barrett's work was highly commended at the recent Starpack Student Awards, which asked people to use cartonboard to design an oriental takeaway meal.

Graphic Communication student Lisa, aged 22, from Stourbridge, said she wanted to turn the standard supermarket takeaway into something more enjoyable and functional.

Demand grows for allotments

HUNDREDS of people are on waiting lists for allotments in the Black Country and Staffordshire.

There are 120 people waiting for plots at 31 sites in Wolverhampton, but council bosses say plots rarely become available.

People struggling financially are looking for ways of saving by growing their own fruit and vegetables. Hundreds are also waiting for plots in Sandwell, Walsall and Dudley.

Wolverhampton City Council spokesman Tim Clark said: "All allotment sites in Wolverhampton are full, most with a waiting list, and demand remains high."

Volunteers who looked after the day-to-day running of the sites were responsible for managing waiting lists, he added.

Seventy-five new allotments were created in the city especially for disabled gardeners, the first of their kind, a year ago.

The allotments, which include raised beds, were created in Howell Road, Blakenhall as part of a £170,000 project. There are 1,076 allotment plots on Wolverhampton's 31 sites.

But demand is highest in Sandwell, where there are 302 people waiting to rent a plot at one of 23 allotment sites in the borough.

There are 153 people on the waiting list in the Walsall area, 20 in Dudley, and 184 in the Cannock district.

Edna and John Collins – married 60 years

Couple's diamond delight

THEIR eyes first met across a crowded church hall in Wolverhampton in 1948.

And 63 years later, Edna and John Collins are celebrating their diamond wedding anniversary.

The happy couple, who live in Bhylls Lane, Castlecroft, spent part of their anniversary enjoying a cream tea at David Austin Rose Garden in Albrighton with their oldest daughter Amanda Penfold, aged 56.

They then followed it up with a trip to the Severn Valley Railway with Amanda, their younger daughter Deborah Chidlow, aged 52, and their daughters' husbands.

Mrs Collins, now aged 82, met her future husband, now 87, when she was just 17 at a dance at Penn Church Hall.

They started out as friends but their relationship blossomed and the couple tied the knot on June 2, 1951 at St Bartholomew's Church, in Church Hill, Penn.

Worked

Mr Collins spent most of his career working in the building trade as a contractor for Dennis Beard's in Penn Fields while his wife worked as a civil servant for National Savings in Dudley Street and the Department of Employment in Waterloo Road.

The couple have four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Nostalgic return trip for model Queen Mary

THE Queen Mary has made a nostalgic return trip to Wolverhampton – almost 80 years after it was made.

But the ship in question is not the 980ft-long, 80,000-ton record-breaking ocean-going liner that once held the coveted Blue Riband for the fastest Atlantic crossing.

It is a 5ft-long scaled-down version of the famous vessel and was built by Wolverhampton model maker George Butler in 1936, the year that the real thing made its maiden voyage.

Mr Butler had a shop in Cleveland Street in the city centre and, by coincidence, the model has been found by Charles Hughes, who runs the Collectors Corner store, in nearby Worcester Street.

Mr Hughes spotted it while browsing through lots for an auction at Shrewsbury and later made a successful, undisclosed bid for it. The 54-year-old, who lives in Shrewsbury, said today: "The model is made of wood and metal and is almost a foot wide.

"I was intrigued by the fact that Mr Butler had been based so close to where my shop now stands. There were others bidding for it but I was determined to get it because of its links to Wolverhampton.

Auction

"Items always tend to sell best in the area with which it has a strong connection. It seems that he made models of several liners, some of which were sold overseas.

"The Queen Mary appears to have been his favourite because he kept it for himself.

"I believe it had been in the hands of his family until this auction. A handwritten note with a photograph taken by the Express & Star in 1936 says 'Uncle George with the model Queen Mary'."

Mr Hughes said the model was in "pretty good condition" considering its age. "I would love to know more about it," he added. "There is growing interest in social history, especially the 19th and 20th centuries."

Mr Hughes now hopes to be taken on a voyage of discovery as he researches its background prior to putting it up for sale.

He said: "I haven't really thought about how much I will be asking for it but I would imagine that it would be £500-plus.

"It is a one-off and a combination of that, coupled with its age and the connections to the area, could make it a very attractive collectable."

Mr Hughes said he was also toying with the idea of offering it to the business that now runs the real Queen Mary as a floating hotel in Palm Beach, California.

"Looking at its website gives the impression it is very much upmarket", he said. "It costs around 30 dollars just to walk round it. Ironically Mr Butler apparently did much of his trade with Americans, and so it might complete the circle if this ship ended up on the other side of the Atlantic as well."

Merged

The original Queen Mary was built by Cunard to replace the Mauretania, another record-breaking liner. The firm announced in 1931 that a new 1,000 ft, 81,000 ton liner was to be built by the John Brown shipyard on the River Clyde in Glasgow.

Cunard merged with major rival White Star Line and the Government loaned it £9.5 million, much of which was used to complete the Queen Mary and build a sister ship. The vessel was launched on September 26, 1934, by its namesake Queen Mary.

Anyone with information about Mr Butler, the business he ran or his model making is asked to call Mr Hughes on 07714 754869.

Solar plan part of 'green' travel bid

SOLAR-powered bus stops, car sharing promotions and schemes to get more people cycling and walking in the West Midlands are among plans for "green" transport that will cost taxpayers £54 million.

The Government is offering funding to councils that want to bid for a "local sustainable transport fund". Transport authority Centro, which handles public transport for the Black Country's councils, is bidding for £41.8m but will put in almost £12.4m of regional ratepayers' money.

Its bid includes plans to ask for £2m from councils through controversial section 106 agreements, where developers who want planning permission will be forced to agree to pay for transport improvements.

The use of such agreements has recently been relaxed in Wolverhampton amid fears it puts developers off. But in a report to councillors on Centro, the authority's chief executive Geoff Inskip said work was needed to meet European targets on carbon emissions by 2014.

Information

Money will be spent on things like advertising journey planners by sending emails and text messages to bus passengers, as well as mail to homes within 2,624ft of a transport "corridor".

The plan also calls for more bus stops to provide up-to-the-minute information on where buses are. But if the electronic screens cannot be connected to mains power, Centro wants to invest in solar panels.

The funding will also pay for the development of mobile phone apps that will let iPhone users find out where their buses are, even if they are not at a stop or station. There are also calls for more car sharing, with money from developers of new homes used to start "car clubs".

But Henry Carver, chairman of Wolverhampton Business Group, said it would not work, adding: "This will cost a lot of money and will have no effect on people's lifestyles whatsoever."

Chris Kelly, who owns West Midlands truck dealership Keltruck, added: "People who travel in cars pay tax which subsidises those who travel by public transport."

Students are pure gold

Luke Eccleston, from Deansfield, and left, Nathan Cook, from Ettingshall Park, both aged 18, are celebrating their success at the championships

SPORTY students from Wolverhampton College struck gold at a national athletics championships.

Nathan Cook and Luke Eccleston were chosen to represent the West Midlands following regionwide trials earlier this year.

The 18-year-olds, who are studying for sports diplomas, brought home a gold apiece from the British Colleges Sport championships in Bath recently. The trampoline was the area of Nathan's triumph, while Luke excelled in the swimming pool, bringing home a relay medal.

Truancy problem worst in region

TRUANCY in a Black Country borough remains the worst in the West Midlands – with pupils skipping classes more than three times as often as those in other areas.

Figures from the Department of Education show 1.79 per cent of classes were skipped at state schools in Sandwell during the autumn term of 2010. In Wolverhampton, the figure was 1.45 per cent.

This compares with just 0.56 missed lessons in Staffordshire, which was the best performing local education authority in the region. In Walsall it was 1.19 per cent, and Dudley's pupils missed 1.34 per cent of sessions.

The West Midlands fared poorly against the rest of the country. The national average was 1.04 per cent, with the West Midlands showing 1.11 per cent.

But that figure was an improvement on 1.31 per cent of sessions missed in the West Midlands in the autumn term of 2009.

The figures relate to the percentage of lessons missed due to unauthorised absences in primary and secondary schools.

Schools minister Nick Gibb added that nationally the truancy figures were too high.

"We know that children who are absent for substantial parts of their education fall behind their peers and struggle to catch up."

Thank you to your office staff who co-ordinated everything perfectly

Mr and Mrs Simmons of Walsall

I was recommended to the company 10 years ago and recently had a conservatory fitted.

I am over the moon with the quality and service.

Miss Rae of Stafford

I am delighted with my conservatory and would highly recommend your firm.

Miss Challoner of Wolverhampton

Stormseal fitted our windows over 20 years ago, since moving we have had a conservatory and a full house of windows and recommended them to all our friends and family

Gittings of Dudley

The way you and your company dealt with me from start to finish has beyond doubt more than met my requirements and given me total satisfaction.

I am very impressed.

Few sporting occasions match the intensity, glamour and drama of the Forumula 1 Santander Britiish Grand Prix and whether a wide-eyed first timer or seasoned veteran the experience is breathtaking.

Nothing beats the atmosphere at Silverstone when a British driver takes to the circuit. In 2011 both Lewis Hamilton and Jenson Button will be aiming to impress the loyal British fans at their home race and hoping to mount the steps of the Silverstone podium.

The British Grand Prix is the oldest race in the Formula 1 calendar, reaching its 61st anniversary in 2011. Originally a Second World War airfield, Silverstone has hosted the race regularly since 1950, and every year since 1987.

The circuit is famous for being one of the fastest and most challenging tracks, testing even the best driver's skills to the limit.

After victory in front of his home fans in 2008, Lewis Hamilton will be looking to emulate this success again, whilst Jenson Button would love to win at Silverstone and join the list of elite British drivers to win in front of a home crowd, including Jackie Stewart, James Hunt, Nigel Mansell, Damon Hill and David Coulthard.

Hit the Dirt3

Mud, sweat and gears with global rally action

Dirt3 (12)

CODEMASTERS have hit top gear with this thrilling latest addition to the long-running Colin MacRae rally franchise.

The career mode is seriously addictive, casting you as a rookie driver going through a season's worth of races in various beautifully realised locations, including the forests of Finland, Battersea in London, snowy Aspen in the Rocky Mountains and the African plains.

The locations are matched by different race formats, ranging from head-to-head challenges to time trials, drift showcases, freestyle gymkhana and pedal-to-the-metal races. This and the variety of cars to choose from ensure the challenges never get boring. Great soundtrack too.

If you're hooked up to the internet, you can also upload your finest moments to YouTube.

Leon Burakowski

Rally action from Battersea to Africa in the seriously addictive Dirt3 – you can even upload your best race moments to YouTube

Yo ho and ha ha with Lego pirates parody

Cap'n Jack Lego-style in an amusing take on Disney's Pirates of the Caribbean franchise

LEGO Disney Pirates of the Caribbean: The Video Game (PG)

WE have had Lego-fied Harry Potter, Indiana Jones and Star Wars – and now the Pirates of the Caribbean get the treatment.

The fun factor is always high in these Lego puzzlers and this is a particularly amusing romp through the key moments from the first three movies featuring Cap'n Jack and his fellow swashbucklers. In fact, you will probably chuckle more playing this than watching the latest blockbuster instalment.

There is some fighting but, as before, it is mostly about solving puzzles and making stuff out of Lego bricks. You can swap between characters too. LB

Star Raiders

SPACE combat was once a mainstay of the games industry, going right back to the arcade roots. But apart from the occasional spaceship shooting element within a game which has its focus elsewhere, or ageing Star Wars title, the sub-genre has almost vanished. Star Raiders will not bring it back. This Xbox Live Arcade offering based on an old Atari title is too slow, repetitive and boring, despite nice graphics. Floating around, getting glancing blows from huge spaceships doesn't cut it any more. LB

Despite its problems of good things going

HAVING been commissioned by the BBC, poet Ian McMillan, the bard of Barnsley, wrote:

"Wolverhampton's like my auntie: could not be called pretty, but Yam Yams don't care: this is their vibrant home, a tolerant, open and welcoming city, the rival of Paris, the equal of Rome, and to those who give cities like this one much grief, I say stay here a while, take your time, look beneath."

And, as many Wulfrunians would agree, he's got a point, because, while it may have one of the UK's highest number of vacant shops, have shattered dreams of a shopping project that never was and suffer from a poor public image, there is still, for many, much to be proud of and to promote, writes Chris Davies.

For starters, it has a rich musical heritage and some of the best live music venues anywhere in the West Midlands – a fact borne out by lead vocalist James Dean Bradfield from Welsh trio Manic Street Preachers, who declared the Civic Hall to be "One of my favourite venues in the world".

And he's not the only one. The civic hall's wall of fame features such local legends as former Led Zeppelin drummer Jon Bonham, Slade frontman Noddy Holder and ex-Deep Purple bassist and vocalist Glenn Hughes.

Time less

In addition to this, there's the huge part Wolverhampton played in the northern soul scene of the 60s, with clubs such as the Catacombs – formerly in Temple Street – hosting all-nighters to rival that of Wigan pier.

Name any music scene and Wolverhampton's had a huge part to play, whether it's the wall of feedback from rock stars, breaks and beats from some of the UK's first breakdance crews, the award-winning Canal Club, Cleveland City Records (which scored a number one hit with singer Tony Di Bart), the timeless drum 'n' bass of Goldie (whose now priceless graffiti used to adorn the walls of the low level train station), the powerful soul vocals of Beverley Knight or the pounding indie noise of The Joy Formidable, whose drummer, Matt Thomas, is a local lad.

And, although some of its venues have long since gone or now stand empty, like monoliths to glories past, new venues such as the Slade Rooms continue a grand tradition of live music in the city, following on from the legacy of the Civic and Wulfrun halls.

Indeed, many Wulfrunians seem determined not to be downtrodden and are keen to look to the future.

And one way in which they are doing just that, is by trying to improve the look of the city centre and its surrounding areas with the vibrant colours of nature.

Wolverhampton In Bloom is the city council's bid to retain its Heart of England in Bloom gold award and continue to make the most of the city's fine open spaces.

Emma Cleary, tourism project officer, says: "We aim to bring together businesses, community groups, schools and residents to help make Wolverhampton a more attractive place to live and work in."

Staging

And a lot of green spaces there are, in and around the city, all steeped in history and enjoyed by many.

West Park, or the 'People's Park' as it was then known, opened on June 6, 1881, on the site of the Race Course, (or Broad Meadows) owned by the Duke of Cleveland.

After staging a competition to design the park's layout, the organisers chose their winner, RH Vertegans, of Edgbaston, whose plans included ornamental lakes covering eight acres and up to 12 acres for sports. In 1902, the Art and Industrial Exhibition was held in the park.

Attractions included a water chute and swan-shaped rowing boats for the entertainment of the public.

It was not a financial success, however, and the event was never repeated.

In 1986, the park was put on the English Heritage National Register of Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest.

And Wolverhampton Council promoted a campaign of restoration, which included the tea room and Grade II-listed bandstand.

Other green spaces in the city include Ashmore Park, Bantock Park, Claregate playing field and pavillion, East Park, Northycote Farm and Country Park in Bushbury, Pendeford Mill nature reserve, Phoenix Park, Smestow Valley and Tettenhall Upper Green.

Wolverhampton is also a winner when it comes to sports, with a Premier League football team – Wolverhampton Wanderers, where work is in progress to transform its Molineux stadium – superb leisure centres, Olympic athletes and some great golf courses.

And, just over the road from West Park, lies one of the city's many centres of culture, which combine to form a vibrant community of creative people all committed to making Wolverhampton a better place to be.

Since its launch in 2000, Newhampton Arts Centre, on Dunkley Street, has produced some of the city's most talented artists, musicians, dancers and actors.

This includes the highly regarded Central Youth Theatre and acclaimed singer/songwriters Scott Matthews and Dan Whitehouse, to name but a few.

Nowadays, the centre's rehearsal rooms are home to the next generation of dance troupes, including Transit and Bollywood Dreams.

Impressive

This August, Central Youth Theatre will be behind one of the most exciting events to be staged in Wolverhampton in recent years.

They perform inside a converted part of the city's impressive low level station as part of the group's Everybody Dance Now project.

Newhampton Arts Centre is just one part of a broad and exciting arts scene in the city, thanks to its sizeable student population and venues such as Arena Theatre,

Wolverhampton Art Gallery is a popular venue for art lovers in the region

Grand Theatre, Light House Media Centre and an award-winning art gallery.

Back in the city centre and, although a great deal of shops undeniably stand empty as a knock-on effect of turbulent economic times, there is still a surprisingly good variety of independent stores in addition to the usual high street names, including Rowfers, Penny Farthing, Diffusion, Le Monde, Evolution, TA Henn and many more.

Add to this the city's vibrant markets and many fine restaurants, including Made In Thai, Cafe Maxsim, Bella, Banks Bistro (both in Chapel Ash), Relish cafe in Tettenhall and Cafe Latuske's in Finchfield and it soon becomes apparent that living in Wolverhampton really is what you make it.

ALLAN BENNETT

Early Staffordshire Spring Lamb

Reared on the Staffordshire countryside, this is the most natural free-range meat you can buy. The lamb is hung for a week to further improve flavour and create the perfect product. The low food miles means the product is good for the environment as well as for you!

Why not try one of our Staffordshire Lamb products this spring

Shropshire Beef

Farmed locally for full traceability our beef is matured for a minimum of three weeks, to ensure all cuts have the tenderness and taste that will keep you coming back, you can't rush quality.

All Neil before the king of Diamond

The legend Neil Diamond is coming to the LG Arena

Neil Diamond LIVE is a chance for fans to take a trip down memory lane as Neil performs the songs that have made him one of the world's best-known live performers – Cracklin' Rosie, Song Sung Blue, You Don't Bring Me Flowers, Sweet Caroline, Love on the Rocks, and many more.

He is due at Birmingham's LG Arena on Tuesday, June 28 and Thursday, June 30.

Across a musical career stretching nearly 50 years, Neil Diamond has sold more than 128 million albums worldwide. He has charted 37 Top 10 singles and 16 Top 10 albums.

Diamond is a member of the Songwriters Hall of Fame and is a recipient of the Sammy Cahn Lifetime Achievement Award, one of the highest honours bestowed upon songwriters. Diamond's many other achievements include a Golden Globe Award and 12 Grammy nominations.

Last October Neil's latest recording, Dreams was released through Sony Music – a 14-song collection comprising the singer/songwriter's favourite songs of other composers from the rock era.

The album includes music that deeply influenced him as a young man growing up in Brooklyn with Let It Be to other well-known classics from the 60s and 70s including Hallelujah, Desperado, Yesterday and Midnight Train to Georgia.

Ticket are £65 & £75. Call 0844 3388000

Let's hear it for the boy Ren at the Grand

FOOTLOOSE explodes on to the stage at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre with classic 80s anthems including Holding Out For A Hero, Let's Hear It For The Boy, Almost Paradise and of course the title track, Footloose.

Starring Steven Pinder as Reverend Shaw Moore and Max Milner as Ren it tells the story of life in small-town Bomont which is peaceful – until City boy, Ren, arrives. Breaking every taboo, Ren brings dance back to the heart of a town held back by the memory of a tragedy. Based on the hit 80s movie (which launched the careers of Kevin Bacon, Sarah Jessica Parker and John Lithgow), Footloose has become a stage phenomenon.

From Broadway to the West End and touring across the UK, it is packed full of electrifying dance routines. It runs from Monday, June 20 to Saturday, June 25.

Favourite

Before that (Saturday, June 18 and Sunday June 19) is children's favourite Thomas the Tank Engine and Friends.

Everyone's favourite little blue engine, Thomas steams onto the stage in a brand new musical adventure Thomas and Friends Live: A Circus Comes to Town.

When Thomas makes a big mistake, all the engines on the Island of Sodor must work together to prepare for an exciting event under the Big Top and Thomas must prove to Sir Topham Hatt and friends that he's a really useful engine once again. It features a colourful cast of circus performers and a host of new songs .

It's songs of a different kind before that (Thursday, June 16) with The Bon Jovi Experience. Since their formation in 1983, Bon Jovi have sold more than 120 million albums worldwide, and performed live in concert to more than 34 million fans. The Bon Jovi Experience is a tribute to one of the greatest rock bands of all time – they are also the only Bon Jovi tribute band in the world to have played live with Jon Bon Jovi himself!

Max Milner as Ren in Footloose which is coming to The Grand

Dave Simpson's girls'-night-out comedy The Naked Truth, runs until Saturday (11).

Over to the Hippodrome in Birmingham and it's magic, mayhem and the original living doll. Birmingham Royal Ballet present Coppelia where eccentric toymaker Dr Coppélius is planning to bring his mechanical doll, Coppélia, to life – he just needs the right spell. When Dr Coppélius leaves Coppélia on his workshop balcony she's soon causing quite a stir in the village. Particularly in the heart of redblooded young lover Franz, and the jealous mind of his real-life fiancée, Swanilda – who's mistaken the mannequin for a crying, talking, sleeping, walking rival. It runs from Tuesday, June 14 to Saturday, June 18.

Before that Welsh National Opera present a new production of Mozart's Cosi Fan Tutte tonight (Thursday) and Saturday (11) with. Puccini's Turandot tomorrow (Friday).

Rachel back nearer home

Oldbury-born singer Rachel Button has come a long way since playing violin in Sandwell Youth Orchestra and is now preparing for her first major Midlands gig, at Birmingham's Glee Club tomorrow.

The concert coincides with the release of her debut EP, With Love, and is something of a homecoming for the 26-year-old.

She moved to London seven years and is now living the life of a musician.

In between gigs in and around the capital, Rachel is a vocal tutor at The Academy of Music and Sound in Birmingham, as well as finding time to write and produce songs. "It's an unstable lifestyle," she admits, "but I like it like that. It keeps me on my toes."

Rachel Button is at the Glee Club, Birmingham

A former pupil at Perryfields High School, Rachel has always loved to sing and after performing at churches and youth groups decided music was the career for her.

After convincing her supportive parents that it was the right thing to do,she went to London to earn a degree in Popular Music Performance, picking up a First before completing a Masters in the same subject. Now Rachel is hoping her new EP will be the first of many more releases.

Her Glee Club gig is the first she's done near her home town. Rachel is at the Club on June 10. Tickets are £6 in advance and doors open at 8pm.

Scott aims to deliver

The Newhampton Arts Centre, Wolverhampton is offering a unique opportunity to see acclaimed singer-songwriter Scott Matthews play a warm-up gig in an intimate cabaret setting before his forthcoming UK tour. It will also be a chance to hear songs from his new album What the Night Delivers ahead of its release on.

Scott is at the centre Saturday June 11, from 7.30pm. Tickets are £12.50 and booking is essential, for details email office@newhamptonarts.co.uk or telephone 01902 572090.

Multi-instrumentalists Tim Judson and Julia Disney grace the Newhampton Folk Club on June 15 with support by Crag Band. Tickets are £8. Contact 01902 820958 or 340603.

Doreen's story

I have so much to thank Mr Burchell for . . . his advice and wonderful treatment.

I had a history of problems with my own teeth and received a lot of treatment in hospital. The implants I were advised to consider have been wonderful, but I found it a difficult decision to make. I hadn't heard of the procedure for dentures, but how glad I am that I took Mr Burchell's advice.

To say I am pleased with my new teeth is an understatement.

They are absolutely perfect and a pleasure to wear. I love to show them off. The difference the implants make to the security of the denture is simply unbelievable, it really is life-changing for me.

I found Mr Burchell's expertise second to none and he went to so much trouble to make each visit to the clinic a pleasure.

In the past I would have to consider what food to eat and there was always a problem with food particles becoming trapped under the bottom denture. I no longer have any problem at all and do not have to consider what food I should have or how to eat it.

Life has changed dramatically. The dentures are so stable I no longer have to cut an apple to eat it.Another great benefit is that I don't have to continually wash my dentures.

I can understand how people would feel nervous about having implants. I am 81 and certainly don't feel too old to invest in such a life-changing experience.

Peter's story

I can eat anything, but that's not always been the case. It's as if I have my natural teeth back and I cannot believe the difference.

Having read good reports of Mr Buchell's reputation at fabricating realistic, natural-looking, well-fitting dentures, I made an appointment to see him.

On my first consultation I explained the difficulty I was having in stopping my lower dentures from moving around and not being retained in a comfortable position.

He suggested I visited implant dentist Jonathan Pugh to determine if I would be suitable for the procedure. I agreed, but not without reservation due to procedure involved. My consultation with Mr Pugh was professional and reassuring and the X-rays he took showed I had sufficient bone to support two implants which could secure my lower denture.

The insertion of the implants was painless – no different to having a filling.

Mr Burchell fitted my perfectly-crafted dentures, securing them to the implants.

They were a superb fit, a situation I had not experienced for a number of years. While initial costs may appear high, having considered the long-term benefits of the treatment, I felt confident I was making the right decision.

The stability of the denture is just great and I can happily go to any restaurant without thinking about what suitable choice might be on the menu.

TRANSFORMATIONS

SOMEONE once said: "A smile happens in a flash, but its memory can last a lifetime."

Every time we break into a genuine, happy smile we share our deepest emotions with someone else and give a privileged insight to whom we really are.

That is why my team and I at the Denture Clinic in Dudley are so passionate about the transformations our work can bring. We have a simple core philosophy of no compromises as we briefly become the guardians of your precious smile.

We will explore every possible avenue to bring about the best clinical outcome, using cutting-edge technology to establish perfect-fitting false teeth which can look and feel like your own. Many people complain they never meet the person who makes their dentures, but now you can as we craft your teeth from start to finish in our practice.

With a country-wide reputation as a 'smile mechanic', he was the first of a new generation of practitioners to register in the UK. He trained in Canada and completed his qualification with The Royal College of Surgeons. Steven Burchell Dip CDT RCS(Eng) DD MCDP invites you to join a dental revolution

The responsibility of enhancing an individual smile with natural-looking false teeth is not taken lightly and never before has our work been so exacting as we strive to remain on the very cusp of a denture revolution. 'Natural' is our hallmark, as we bring some 26 years' experience to create not only a unique smile, but functional dentures too.

For our implants work we exclusively use implant dentist Jonathan Pugh, who is based in Wolverhampton. We have trusted, long-standing professional relationship with him.

The team is regularly surprised and humbled by the transforming nature of the clinic's work.

For many satisfied patients, our natural-looking teeth and attention to detail has become their natural choice – take a look at their stories.

Terry's story

I'm a confident guy, you know, nothing really keeps me down – even when things are not good. But I had nine years of trouble with my teeth and eventually it began to erode my confidence.

I would never have believed it; I'd have a laugh about it, but it really isn't funny when you have unresolved problems with false teeth.

My dentist eventually referred me to Mr Burchell to see if there was some way of making my plates fit properly. The difference now is a world apart. My plates fit perfectly, look like my real teeth and I can live life impulsively once again. Before, if I was going to a restaurant, I would have to use a fixative to secure my teeth. That was okay if I could eat within a couple of hours of using the fixative. Anytime after that, it was hopeless, but now I can tackle anything. Previously, I had never been in contact with an actual denture-maker, teeth had always been prescribed through a dentist and the difference for me was incredible. There were five stages on the route to my final prescription and the treatment I received at every point was excellent. My teeth were well worth the money – what price can you put on being able to eat normally and socialise without embarrassment?

My confidence is back and Mr Burchell did everything he said he would: That my teeth would fit, I would be able to chew properly and they'd look real, totally natural.To sum up, there's nothing I have attempted to eat, which I have not been able to.

SO YOU THINK YOU CAN DANCE: THE FINAL LIVE
BBC1, 7.15pm

So You Think You Can Dance has made for compelling viewing. Judge Arlene Phillips is certainly just as excitable here as she ever was on Strictly Come Dancing, and no doubt she'll be even more impassioned in this episode. Over the past eight weeks, the 20 finalists have been slowly whittled down to just four, and now they'll be going head to head to be named Britain's Favourite Dancer – and win £50,000 and the chance to appear on the American version of the show.

THE ROYAL
ITV1, 7pm

This week sees the arrival of timid new student nurse Faye Clarke (Lauren Drummond). It's her first time away from home, and she's thrown in at the deep end when a beautiful young model collapses and dies after consuming magic mushrooms. Faye may feel she's in over her head, but at least Matron (Wendy Craig) can see she has potential. Meanwhile, Lizzie (Michelle Hardwick) is charmed by motorcycle stunt rider Jimmy, (James Daffern), who injures his wrist in a bike fall. He thinks he has a hereditary medical condition – polycystic kidneys – so wants to live fast, die young. However, tests reveal an altogether different diagnosis.

Have you got room in your life to care for a child?
St Christopher's Fostering is part of St Christopher's Fellowship, a children's charity helping the most vulnerable children since 1870. We are looking for ordinary people who can make extraordinary differences to young people by becoming foster carers.
You'll need:
● A spare room
● Patience and understanding
● Time and commitment
● A love for children
● A good sense of humour!
In return we offer:
● Top training and 24/7 support
● Excellent benefits and an allowance of £400 per week per child.
● A rewarding, challenging new career
● Working in your own home alongside a professional team
"There are many rewarding moments with fostering - it's hard to choose one. There are little moments every day that make us realise we are making real progress with the children."

Impressive biopic of the Dragon but little that's new

YOUNG BRUCE LEE

YOUNG Bruce Lee with Aarif Rahman in the title role is obviously a high-budget, high-production value film and equal to any biopic Hollywood could turn out. It is tightly scripted and well acted by an impressive cast.

YBL charts the life of the screen and martial arts legend from his birth until he departs Hong Kong for America aged 19.

Even though this is an excellent production it could have been made by the Bruce Lee appreciation society, it is very fawning and almost seeks to deify Lee but at the same time doesn't really give any new insights into the life of the kung fu master.

Lee grew up in a well-heeled middle class Chinese family in Hong Kong. He lived in a well-to-do area of the city and he was famous as a film star in his own right before he reached the US.

He had a pretty privileged upbringing, never went short of anything and spent his early years, like any lad, hanging around with his friends and getting into mischief.

If any Lee fans are looking for a kung fu film they will be sadly disappointed. The only fight scenes are one of a boxing match which is formulaic and secondly a street fight which owes more to a directorial tribute to Lee's film Way of the Dragon than any actual event. This may appeal to Lee purists but perhaps less to fans of his films and martial arts skills.

The extras on this disc are also pretty disappointing with talking heads and still shots from a couple of people who knew and worked with Lee. Strangely enough there are no film clips either of his movies or of him at home or training. Also noticeable by their absence are any of Lee's family, his widow, daughter, co-stars or any of the many others you would expect to see.

Young Bruce Lee is out now on two disc ultimate edition DVD and Blu-ray Cert 15.

Aqib Khan as Sajid is forced to rediscover his Pakistani heritage

WEST IS WEST

It's been a long time coming but anyone thinking the sequel to the hit British film East is East was going to be more of the same from the Khan family will be disappointed.

This offering is a voyage of discovery, deeper, more thought provoking and certainly doesn't have the earthy wit and humour of the first film.

WiW reunites only some of the cast from the original Salford family outing with Jimi Mistry making a cameo appearance, it seems, purely because he can.

Head of the family George, played excellently by Om Puri decides the runt of his litter Sajid, Aqib Khan, is too British and needs to connect with his heritage in Pakistan.

So, much to his protest and under false pretences, his father transports both of them back to the homeland where he hopes to keep him until he has learned to be Pakistani again. What happens is a voyage of self-discovery for all the Khan family especially George as he realises his vision of being a good Pakistani husband, father and man doesn't necessarily tally with how his two families in Asia and England perceive him.

There are some genuine comic moments, and there are references to the first film which those who haven't seen it won't get, as Sajid discovers a whole new side to his character.

George has an epiphany realising, as he is confronted by Mrs Khan No1 and Mrs Khan No2, played again by excellent actress Linda Bassett who flies in from Blighty to rescue her youngest son, why he left Pakistan in the first place.

West is West is out on DVD and Blu-ray on June 20. Cert 15

JULIA BRADBURY'S CANAL WALKS

Following on the heels of the Julia Bradbury's Wainwright Walks, the TV adventurer has turned her attention to some more accessible routes for those wanting a stroll rather than a breathless Lakeland challenge.

With pleasing scenery, a deep sense of heritage and ... no hills, her Canal Walks are worth viewing.

Her trademark breezy presentation in this series of four walks is hard to resist and might even tempt the unguarded to leave the sofa and sample the wilds of Britain's canals.

The beauty of it all is that you don't need decent walking gear, OS maps and compass to engage this on-the-doorstep experience.

The towpaths of the North Wales Llangollen, Highlands Caledonian, Bath Kennet and Avon Canal all feature, along with our own Worcester and Birmingham Canal.

If you're tempted to know how Britain's canal network was built and how it affected our country during the Industrial Revolution before rail took over, then this DVD is fascinating.

Canal Walks is out on DVD now.

LADYSMITH BLACK MAMBAZO SYMPHONY HALL, BIRMINGHAM

IF THERE is an a capella group more famous, more likeable or one which has the longevity of Ladysmith Black Mambazo we have yet to hear about it

Believe it or not LBM, founded and fronted by professor Joseph Shabalala, began life 51 years ago.

And while it's true Paul Simon brought their talents to a worldwide audience in 1985 through his Graceland album, the South African singing group have captured the hearts of audiences all over the world with their particular talents.

They sang the famous track Homeless from that album and it was as silky and haunting as when it first took the pop world by storm.

The voices of the nine piece group are as rich as the land from which they come and have a depth and range which blend beautifully to create an almost ethereal sound.

LBM's antics on stage smack of what impish choirboys do when their strict songmaster goes out of the room no more so than the playful Zulu rendition of Old McDonald Had A Farm.

They kept the audience almost hypnotised with spontaneous dancing and leaping about in traditional Zulu style and the crowd were highly amused with Wemtana or Bad Donkey an animal with a habit of biting ladies' posteriors

The tour is promoting their latest album Songs From A Zulu Farm and one of the tracks was Yangiluma Inkukhu, which is The Biting Chicken inspired by childhood memories of a particularly bad tempered bird who had a habit of pecking ankles.

LBM bring a trance-like state upon its audiences telling stories through song and dance with beautiful precision such as in Leliyatu – a song to send clouds away – and although the listeners may not understand the words, the language of the song and dance as demonstrated with Uthekwane or The Prettiest Bird, gets through.

SHOW ME SHOW ME, GRAND THEATRE, W-TON

CHRIS Jarvis and Pui Fan Lee have been entertaining youngsters for years on children's television and have now gone on the road to do the same thing.

Little ones – and big kids, too – joined in with the pair as they dressed up to perform sing-along songs, the Grand Old Duke of York and Incy Wincey Spider among them.

As expected, many of the children joined in with the dances and the actions, some of them leaving their seats to do so.

And many of the moms and dads got into the spirit of things too.

For the first of two Sunday shows at the Grand the audience was not as high as might have been expected. However, that did not spoil Chris and pregnant Pui's enthusiasm.

The timing of the show was perfect as Show Me Show Me returned for a new series on CBeebies this week.

BACK FOR GOOD THE NEW ALEX, BIRMINGHAM

IF YOU like Take That you will love Back For Good.

It offers excitement for all, young and old, male and female. The five lads come as close to the real thing as is physically possible with their determination and attention to detail.

They have certainly done their homework to be able to reproduce authentically every mannerism and facial expression of Gary, Jason, Mark, Howard and Robbie.

With their amazing dance routines and exceptional vocals, I can guarantee that you will be singing and dancing within minutes of the opening song and will continue throughout the entire show.

Million Love Songs, Pray, Greatest Day, Patience, Relight My Fire and Angels are just a few of the many unforgettable songs they delivered. Finishing with Never Forget, the entire audience were on their feet shouting for more.

Les Jowett

THE NAKED TRUTH THE GRAND, WOLVERHAMPTON

YOU need to be broadminded for The Naked Truth,the jokes are risque and have a sledgehammer quality, mostly unrepeatable but hilarious.

Set in a pole dancing class, five women struggle to conquer pole dancing as they unfold and unravel their own insecurities and daily challenges.

A charity event is organised for breast cancer after one of them reveals she is battling the disease.

Two of the cast,Julie Buckfield and Maureen Nolan were missing on the opening night but their understudies gave a worthy performance. Nikki Sanderson (Corrie) and Sarah White (Brookie)gave strong performances,while Leanne Jones (Hairspray) and Alison Young were hilarious. The end display of pole dancing was brilliant. Les Jowett

Twist on city classic will delight country drivers

By Pete Carroll

IT MAY NOT be the most immediately attractive addition to the Mini range but the chunky new Countryman retains the brand's capacity to create a stir.

The fourth member of the BMW-owned Mini family certainly drew more comment than the £90,000 Merc I had been driving the previous week.

If I was at the supermarket, shoppers wanted to know if it was any good; when I pulled up at my local park, dog walkers and joggers stopped to check out the car. It seems people are genuinely interested in the idea of a Mini 4x4.

Which is good news for the Cowley firm of course. With more and more rivals desperate to grab a slice of Mini's lucrative "boutique" market, it needs to explore new areas to maintain sales.

Critics have argued that the Countryman is too big to be a "proper" Mini but buyers will not be put off if it offers what they are looking for.

And it certainly gives former Cooper drivers who have traded in their Minis for something larger, because kids have come along, the chance to return to the brand.

I have to admit I was not particularly bowled over by the look of the car when the first pictures were released.

But when I set eyes on the test car in the metal, I started to change my mind – I think it looks particularly good in the monochrome colours of white and black.

The stylish cabin should prove a big hit with Mini fans. It offers the expected mix of the retro and the modern, with the familiar huge speedometer dominating the centre of the dashboard.

But it is the new "centre rail" that is arguably the car's most intriguing feature. It is effectively a twin metal bar running down the centre of the car between the front and rear seats to which a variety of storage containers, audio devices and cup holders can be added.

Opting for the full-length centre rail means you only get two lounge-style back seats but a three-seater bench can be specified as an alternative.

As the Countryman is an SUV, the driving position is raised, but only slightly, so you don't feel like you are driving a van.

Visibility is good and I liked the narrow doors which are less prone to being dinged in car parks than the wider ones on the regular Mini. The boot is more than twice the size of a regular Mini.

Seat comfort was reasonable but the cushioning is flat and there needs to be more lateral support to cope with twisting B-roads.

The driver controls the settings for features such as air conditioning, audio and satellite navigation from an iDrive-style knob, which is finished in downmarket plastic instead of the swish aluminium of the more upmarket BMW cars.

The system initially looks complicated but once you get used to the idea of pushing the knob sideways to scroll through the menus it's surprisingly easy to navigate your way round.

Perhaps the most pleasing thing about the Countryman is the way it drives. Mini engineers have worked hard to preserve the sporting characteristics for which the brand is renowned. The steering is sharp and well-weighted, there's plenty of zip from the 1.6 litre 184hp Cooper S powerplant, and the six close-spaced gears add to the sporty nature of the drive.

The Countryman goes round corners and roundabouts as if on rails and generally offers arguably the sportiest drive of any crossover under £25K. There aren't too many of its competitors that can hit 60mph in seven and a half seconds and have a top speed of 135mph.

Most Countryman models are front-wheel drive but the test car was the flagship model which came with Mini's ALL4 four-wheel drive system. It felt utterly solid on the road and all-wheel drive will certainly prove useful when the bad weather returns.

Further peace of mind should come in the form of the car's five-star safety rating and the popular "tlc" package, which takes care of servicing for five years/50,000 miles for a very reasonable one-off payment of £200.

BMW claims an optimistic 46mpg for the combined cycle but 35mpg would seem to be closer to the mark, especially as the engine is more than happy to rev.

Downsides? The Countryman is not exactly the cutest of Minis and it's still not massively large if it's a family carry-all that you're after. Nor is it particularly cheap, especially if you're not careful with the extensive options list.

But overall the new 4x4 has to rank as a well-judged move by the brand's bosses. Let the doubters scoff that the Countryman is no longer a proper Mini: I found it a practical and stylish proposition – and surprisingly good to drive too.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:
1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.
Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Aces high but just fail to beat the Monarchs

WEDNESFIELD ACES 87 LEICESTER MONARCHS 91

LEICESTER turned up at Wednesfield's Ashmore Park race track with a power packed team of riders, and what a spectacular show of cycle speedway racing was given by the two teams,

Howells and Peck opened the scoring for the visitors on Sunday in the British Premier League with a 6-4 in heat 1 from ChrisJewkes and MattBeharrell.

The next two races were drawn 5-5 then in heat 4 the Aces opened up a lead from a 7-3 from Beharrell and Dylan Radcliffe against Adam Stephenson and Adam Peck.

But the Monarchs struck back in the next race with a 6-4 from Howells and Yelland to level the scores at 25 points each,

The next heat was drawn 5-5 then in heat 7 Wednesfield took full advantage when Craig Marchant was excluded by match referee Bob Prince for moving while under starters orders.

That left Beharrell and Jewkes up against

Cycle speedway

World Champion Luckasz Nowacki.

Jewkes did the job on Nowacki closing him down while Beharrell took the lead. Jewkes held off the challenge of the champion to take a 7-2 advantage to give Wednesfield a score of 37-32.

Heat 8 was drawn but Leicester bounced back with a 7-3 win from Wadhams and Stephenson to put themselve just one point behind 45-44.

Second half started with a 5-5 and then in heat 11 came the turning point of the match for Leicester.

Mark Griffiths uncharacteristically broke through the start tapes while under orders and got his marching orders back to the pits.

It left Leicester's Marchant and Nowacki to take a 7-2 win from lone Aces' rider Terry Norman to put them in a four points lead 56-52.

They held that advantage for the next two races with two 5-5s. Heat 14 saw the Aces come back with a 6-4 from Griffiths and Radcliffe to narrow Leicester's lead to just two points.

After another two drawn heats and with just two races remaining, Leicester sprang a 6-4 in heat 17 to put them four points up again going into the last heat.

But Wednesfield were not going to lay down and almost sprang a suprise comeback. Phil Howells made the gate from grid two over Norman but Lee Aris had other thoughts and held Marchant from the gate taking him out wide for a lap.

Norman let him by for a final last two laps assault on Howells, who had gained quite a lead.

But Aris drew him into his sights and coming upto the final two turns made his move for a pass on the inside, only for Howells to dump him and himself onto the centre green.

That allowed Norman through to take the lead. Everyone waited with bated breath for the referee's whistle but nothing happend and the race stood in the order it finished with Norman the winner followed by Marchant, Howells and Aris for 5-5. What a fantastic match between these two teams!

Aces: Lee Aris 17, Mark Griffiths 15, Chris Jewkes 14+2, matt Beharrell 12+1, Dylan Radcliffe 11+1, Terry norman 11, Luke Draisey 4, Ben Higham 3+1.

Monarchs: Phil Howells 15+2, Marcus Wadhams 15, Adam Peck 12+1, Jason Ashford 11+3, Lukasz Nowacki 11+1, Craig marchant 10+1, Adam Stephenson 9+1, Leon Yelland 8.

WEDNESFIELD 57 LEICESTER 73

Leicester took the points in this Premier League Combination match but the racing was much closer than the scores suggest. Leicester's Charlie Cooper rode well considering he as not long started the sport and there were solid performances from Ashley Doughty and Nick Whitehead.

Star of the Aces was youngster Matt Haddock, who continues to improve and inpress with every ride. He had good back up from Stuart Bentley & Tony De'Leon.

Aces: Matt Haddock 11+2, Tony De'Leon 10+1, Stuart Bentley 10+1, Troy Allen 9, Steve Mullinder 6, Jordan Holdcroft 6, Mick Aris 5+1. Monarchs: Charlie Cooper 17, Ashley Doughty 15+1, Matt Hartshorne 12, Nick Whitehead 10+2, Joe Kemp 10+2, Norman Venson 7+3, George Barrett 2.

Revenge return to the race track

WOLVES are taking a nine days break in action.

Their next fixture is an intriguing revenge mission Knock Out Cup first leg encounter at Eastbourne a week on Saturday.

The following Monday (June 20) they resume at Monmore Green with a rearranged Elite League meeting against Peterborough, postponed last month due to heavy rain.

Eastbourne put a blot on Wolves copybook in their otherwise generally successful campaign last year. The Monmore men finished second in the league before bowing out of the play-offs at the semi-final stage.

They also reached the last four of the Knock Out Cup in 2010 but sustained their worst defeat of the season to lose the first leg 63-29 at Eastbourne. A further two-point setback in the return leg eliminated Wolves by an aggregate score of 109-73.

A refreshed Wolves will want to contain the Eastbourne Eagles this year at their Arlington track. It would give them an opportunity to complete the job at Monmore in the return leg which is not until Monday, July 25.

Progress

Wolves fans can fill the void this weekend by following the progress of their star rider Fredrik Lindgren in the Danish Grand Prix being in Copenhagen on Saturday. It is being shown live on Sky Sports 2 from 6pm.

It is the fourth GP in a series of 11 meetings throughout Europe between April and October to determine the 2011 World Champion.

The opening round in Poland was won by Nicki Pedersen (Denmark). In Sweden it was awarded to Chris Holder (Australia) after heavy rain had curtailed the meeting just before the semi-final stages.

A fortnight ago in the Czech Republic 41-year old Greg Hancock (USA) was the winner. Defending the crown he won for the first time last year is Tomasz Gollob (Poland).

After three rounds the leading eight riders are: Hancock 47 GP points, Gollob 41, Jaroslaw Hampel (Poland) 36, Pedersen 30, Holder 28, Emil Sayfutdinov (Russia) 28, Fredrik Lindgren (Sweden) 26 and Jason Crump (Australia) 24.

Wolves hero Lindgren topped the Elite League averages last year and is currently heading the table again this term. He is aiming to finish the 2011 GP series in the top eight for the first time in his career.

Determined

This would give him automatic qualification for the 2012 GP series.

The 25-year old Swede was 11th in the overall GP standings last year. But he re-qualified for this season's series by grabbing the decisive third place in the Grand Prix Challenge at Vojens in August.

This is the first time "Fast Freddie" has made it into the competition without the aid of a wild card.

He is determined to mark a fourth season as a full-time Grand Prix rider by improving on his best performances last year. These were finishing fourth in two meetings and reaching the semi-final stage in another two.

Lindgren has made a promising start. In the two completed GPs, at Poland and the Czech Republic, he reached the semi-final stages.

Mark O'Connor, Patshull Park general manager Stephen Kimbell and Ben O'Connor promote the Patshull Park Hotel Mid Summer Golf Classic

Young Ben to join in charity classic

GOLFERS will get in the swing for a good cause later this month.

Patshull Park Golf Club, near Pattingham is holding the event in aid of Wolverhampton's Compton Hospice.

Sedgley youngster Ben O'Connor, aged 10, will be the youngest player, having already raised cash for the charity.

He persuaded scores of pupils at his school, Straits Primary, Longfellow Road, Dudley, to donate 10p each to raise £80 of his £400 total.

He will tee off at Patshull on June 21 hoping to raise even more cash for charity after being rewarded with a free junior membership of the club for a whole year.

Patshull Park general manager Stephen Kimbell said: "Ben's fundraising efforts are outstanding and to be applauded."

He will be joined by up to 250 other golfers, including his father Mark, for the charity golf day.

The cost of entry is £30 per partnership and it is hoped that £2,000 will be raised.

Around 75 places are still available.

Those who want to book tickets for the golf day can telephone organisers on 01902 700100.

Bowlers fail to match batsmen's good total

Danescourt Diary by David Lycett

OUR 1st XI played Barnt Green on Saturday in the Birmingham Premier League.

We won the toss and elected to bat with one of the strongest batting line-ups that I have seen for many years.

Moheen Ali the current captain of Worcester 1st XI played for us, and scored 67, however, when he was dismissed at 97 for 5 we looked in trouble.

But thanks to a stand of more than 100 between stand-in skipper Simon Lycett and our overseas player, Johan, we reached 236-8.

Taking

This score should have been easily defendable but although seven bowlers were used, the opposition reached this score for the loss of only four wickets.

Better news for our 2nd XI playing Old Hill. We scored 235 with a number of batsmen contributing 30 runs or thereabouts.

With Old Hill 150-5 with only five overs left, a winning draw looked odds on.

However, with Dave Wollatt taking four wickets and Alan Chapman three, they succumbed and were all out for 170, giving us a 24 point win and taking us to 22 points lead at the top of the table.

Moeen Ali turns the ball to leg on his way to 67

Wolverhampton's Aaron Jeavons is bowled out

In the Staffs Club League, we won the toss against Rugeley and the skipper Tariq took three early wickets but alas there were no other bowlers to assist him.

Rugeley finished on 224 for 8. We missed three easy run-outs in this total but considering we had seven under 16 players in the side, losing steady wickets was inevitable and we held on for a draw for 127 for 7. Bari top scoring with 65 not out.

The most exciting match of the day was Tettenhall College Wergs taking on league leaders Penkridge.

Thanks to Harry Jones, 75, Ryan Singh, 65 and Kataria 40, we managed 270 for 9 off our 50 overs.

When the opposition were 240-5, we looked in trouble, but thanks to Rob Lowe and Grumph with four wickets a piece, we dismissed them for 266 giving us a useful 24 point win by 4 runs.

What a great victory for this very young side.

Our Courts XI against Rugeley 2nds really struggled. We were 130 all out with only El Sid, 39, showing any application with the bat. Needless to say, Rugeley won easily by nnine wickets.

On Sunday, it was the 20/20 competition which saw Shrewsbury defeated by Old Hill by one run. We then beat Wellington by four wickets and in the final against Old Hill, we thought we were well placed on 156 off our 20 overs but alas we had not reckoned with their best player, Nathan Round, who scored a magnificent century off 16 overs to defeat us with four overs to spare.

But all credit to our side of youngsters from the thirds and fourths making up the side with some of our regular 1st XI players missing.

Next week, the 2nds are at home, the 1st XI away at Smethwick. A bottom of the table clash starting at noon.

Tales from The Bratch

BEACON'S first team suffered a day to forget as they crashed to defeat against Staffs Clubs Division One high-flyers Swindon.

A disappointing performance with both bat and ball condemned Beacon to a crushing 177-run defeat.

Swindon plundered 326-3 from their 50 overs ,with Australian wicketkeeper-batsman Jeffery Goninan smashing an unbeaten 155.

In response, Beacon were rolled out for just 149 – Dan Wale the chief destroyer with 6-35.

Only Jason Swan (51) and Chris Townsend (25) offered any resistance with the bat.

The second team were also on the receiving end of a heavy defeat at the hands of Swindon.

The Beacon bowlers were made to toil as Swindon racked up 271-7 with Simon Perkins hitting 129. Craig Winchurch bagged three wickets for Beacon. Beacon were then shot out for 114 in reply.

Brian Jones rolled back the years as the third XI eased to a six-wicket victory over Burntwood. Leigh French claimed 5-47 as Burntwood were dismissed for 217.

Jones then led the victory charge with an unbeaten 108. Josh Smith (36) offered support as Beacon knocked off the runs with 17 overs to spare.

CRICKET ROUND-UP

The Sunday first XI powered their way to victory at Barnt Green in the Worcester Sunday League. Nathan Howell fell for 99 as Beacon piled up 347-7 in 45 overs.

James Fildes (42), Tom Elwell (39), Nick Elwell (35) and Matt Tonks (34) chipped in with useful contributions.

Tom Elwell (3-20) and Ben Robinson (3-29) then shone with the ball as Barnt Green fell for 163.

The second team's clash was abandoned after one innings. Beacon had posted 256-6 – Josh Smith (66) and Dan Green (32) impressing with the bat – before the rain came.

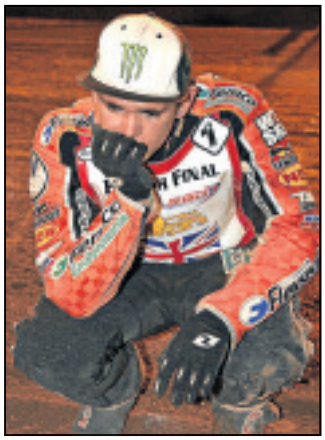
Woffinden's woe as crash dashes British final hope

CRASH – Tai Woffinden (blue helmet) as four riders collide

BANG – Woffinden comes off worst as the bikes pile up



WALLOP – Woffinden is out

BATTERED Tai Woffinden is off to hospital again after his British title challenge ended in agony.

The 20-year-old Wolves star was within a whisker of being crowned national champion on his home track on Monday night.

Woffinden won all five of his qualifying races to move directly through to the grand final. But two falls in the final killed his challenge. The first saw all four riders pile up on the first turn.

Disqualified

And in the re-run Woffinden jetted into the lead only to be brought down by Coventry's Edward Kennett.

Kennett was disqualified but in the third running defending champion Chris Harris pushed Woffinden out of contention.

"My shoulder's killing me," said Woffinden, only just back in action five weeks after breaking it in a BMX crash.

The title was taken by Scott Nicholls and Chris Harris was runner-up.

MARCUS – GOOD MAN FOR WOLVES

MOLINEUX UPDATE with TIM SPIERS

ANOTHER player departed Molineux this week as rumours gathered pace as to who would be joining Mick McCarthy's squad for 2011-10.

Goalkeeper Marcus Hahnemann was not offered a new contract after a successful two years with the club, during which he made 39 league appearances.

And a deal to make Jamie O'Hara's loan spell at Molineux a permanent one was still being thrashed out between Wolves and Spurs, with £5million believed to be the asking price for the midfielder.

Chief executive Jez Moxey said reports claiming O'Hara had already been snapped up were wide of the mark. "We are having positive and ongoing discussions but that is all I have to report at the moment," he said.

"It should be remembered that, under the terms of Jamie's loan here, he is our player until the end of June and we remain positive about the likely outcome of our discussions."

Ringing

If various newspaper and internet report are to be believed, Wolves are also hoping to sign Reading defender Matt Mills, West Ham and England centre half Matthew Upson, Caen's Moroccan striker Youssef El Arabi and Blues player Roger Johnson.

Hahnemann, currently on international duty with the United States, departed with a ringing endorsement from goalkeeping coach Pat Mountain. The 38-year-old former Reading shot-stopper was labelled as a great character by Mountain, who said Hahnemann was fabulous to work with.

"I think he was good for Wolves over the last two years and at the same time Wolves was good for him," Mountain said.

"He came in with a lot of experience and on the pitch really helped the team come through a difficult time when he got his chance."

Four Wolves players played their part in an historic victory on Tuesday (7) when the Republic of Ireland beat Italy 2-0 in Belgium.

Stephen Ward, Stephen Hunt, Kevin Foley and Andy Keogh lined up for the Republic in what is believed to be just the third time four Wolves players have started together in an international side.

The other occasions were England games, firstly when Bert Williams, Billy Wright, Ron Flowers and Dennis Wilshaw played against France in 1955. Normal Deeley and Peter Broadbent joined Wright and Flowers for a friendly against Brazil four years later.

Piles of mangled metal, dust and debris are all that now remain of the Stan Cullis stand

Molineux stands and delivers

JUST two weeks ago, Molineux's Stan Cullis Stand was a heaving mass of gold and black as thousands of supporters celebrated Wolves' survival in the Premier League by a whisker.

Today it is a pile of mangled metal, dust and debris, with flashes of the team's iconic colours still shining through.

From vantage points surrounding the historic ground, the skyline of the city has changed markedly, with the city's Asda superstore taking centre stage.

From the ring road heading past the back of the Stan Cullis, a gaping hole has opened up in the stadium's four sides, revealing the supermarket.

And these pictures, taken from the Billy Wright stand, show the spectacle as diggers ripped out the last section of concrete as part of the £16 million rebuilding.

The change will be the first of many with a towering two-tier 7,700-seater replacement rising from the rubble over the coming weeks.

The first tier of the new stand will be ready to seat an estimated 3,000 fans in uncovered areas by the middle of September, with the replacement up and in use in time for the 2012/13 season.

Talented Heidi rides into final

A HORSE-RIDING teenager has accomplished her lifelong dream after riding into the finals of a major competition.

Talented Heidi Love, aged 15, won the Horse of the Year competition at the Scope Festival at Staffordshire County ground in Stafford.

It means she has qualified to compete at the annual championship for under 16s at the National Exhibition Centre in Birmingham in October.

Heidi, of Holly View, Essington, is now searching for a sponsor to help her to glory as the cost of competing is expensive, and she cannot afford to continue without a helping hand.

At the NEC she will be competing against about 35 other showjumpers from around the world. Heidi attends Cheslyn Hay Sport and Community College.

Ex-amateur footballer dies at the age of 74

A DECORATED amateur Wolverhampton football captain, who won numerous trophies over a playing career of almost 20 years, has died aged 74.

Norman Sweet who died at his home in Henwood Road, Compton, after a short illness.

The former builder, who was self-employed for more than 50 years, played for and captained both Whitmore Old Boys in the Wolverhampton Amateur League and The Three Tuns in the Wolverhampton Sunday League in the 1950s and 60s.

A right full-back, he won among other accolades the JW Hunt Cup four times and the Wolverhampton Amateur League first division trophy three times, as well as the Wolverhampton Sunday League first division trophy four times.

He also represented the city at the home of its professional rivals West Bromwich Albion, when a Wolverhampton Amateur League side defeated a Handsworth League team 7-2. The game, played in the 1961-62 season, was for the Campbell Orr Shield and the score was a record for the competition at the time.

Mr Sweet was also a keen golfer who played for both Swindon and Perton Golf Clubs .

He leaves wife Dinah and daughter Tina. His funeral was on Monday.

Tributes are paid to coach of children

A CHILDREN's football coach from Bilston has died suddenly aged 62.

Millfields FC coach Terry Phillips, of Talbot Place, suffered a heart attack. The former machinist spent 30 years nurturing footballers aged eight to14.

He spent several hours a week at St Leonard's School, Bilston, and the Goals Soccer Centre, Darlaston Lane.

He also achieved local fame in 2005 when he braved blinding smoke to drag his neighbour, pensioner Margaret Meese to safety during a chip pan fire.

Current Wolves academy coach Marc Campbell played in one of Mr Phillips's teams for three seasons.

The 27-year-old paid tribute to the man who helped put him on the path to his current career. He said: "He has had a massive impact on my life."

Terry's son, also called Terry, aged 38, said his dad combined coaching with working full-time, for John Thompson and Stewart & Lloyds, before retiring to look after Dolly, his wife of 37-years.

He said "He was a great person. All the kids on the estate loved him, and he loved his football and working with them."

The avid Wolves fan, also leaves a daughter, Louise, aged 36, and six grand children. His funeral was on Monday.

Terry Phillips, aged 62

Great Scott! What a win in leisure league

THE New Inn secured runners up spot on the final night of the Wolverhampton Leisure League's Tuesday 6-a-side season, and did so in remarkable fashion with an 11-0 drubbing of Average Joe's, Scott Bates the driving force.

Beer Bellies completed their title winning campaign with another victory, seeing off Swan Village Crew by five goals to two, Liam Cole with the man of the match display. The highlight of the remaining games saw The Legends battle to a 7-4 victory over Sunday League Drop Outs, Matt Green starring.
